Laos Parley Still Tightly Deadlocked

U.S., Soviet Spar Amid Expressions Accord Desirable

GENEVA (AP) — The international conference on Laos was still tightly deadlocked today with the United States and the Soviet Union sparring amid expressions from both that an agreement is desirable.

Harriman, Gromyko Meet On Laos Issue

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman meets Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today in an attempt to get the stalled international conference on Laos moving again.

Harriman, chief U.S. delegate to the conference, will deliver a note sent from Washington with President Kennedy's approval urging the Soviet Union to help establish an effective cease-fire in Laos.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, returning to Geneva Thursday night for the first time since Premier Khrushchev met in Vienna with President Kennedy, quickly doused hopes that he brought instructions to move the Communist position toward the West's.

"My pockets are empty," Gromyko told newsmen.

Gromyko told newsmen he had returned to Geneva to resume the conference and declared: "We still believe that if all parties are willing, it is possible to reach an agreement. I repeat, if all parties are willing."

The assumption was that he meant if all parties are willing to go along with the Communists. With the rebels holding the upper hand militarily, the Communist delegates at Geneva insist the cease-fire is effective and the conference should only discuss the political future of Laos.

The United States and Britain forced an indefinite suspension of the conference sessions Thursday after the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels drove a holdout government garrison out of the mountain village of Padong, deep in Pathet Lao territory. The West called the attack on Padong a serious violation of the cease-fire.

The Western allies refuse to participate in further conference sessions until the Communists agree to strengthen the powers of the truce commission in Laos to enable it to check immediately on violations of the cease-fire. But President Kennedy reiterated that the U.S. delegation was not quitting the conference to return home.

Communist spokesmen in Geneva and Red propaganda organs took the line that the attack on Padong was justifiable as a clean-up operation to wipe out U.S.-supported "bandits and saboteurs" harassing the population in Pathet Lao territory.

Justice Unit Silent On Red Party's Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department today reserved comment on the announced intention of the American Communist party to defy the Supreme Court decision that it register as an organization controlled by the Soviet Union.

But individual officials left no doubt about the department's readiness to go to the legal mat again with the party and its members over compliance with the court ruling.

Actually, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's aides are still engaged in an analysis of the somewhat complex Supreme Court actions of last Monday. They upheld the registration section of the 1950 Internal Security Act, and also the conviction of a party member on grounds he was an active member of an organization advocating violent overthrow of this government.

The department has carefully withheld any discussion of the implications of these inter-related rulings pending completion of a study of the diverse court opinions accompanying them.

Gus Hall, the U. S. party's general secretary, said Thursday it will not comply in any way with the registration decision, which took the federal government 10 years to obtain.

CRUISING IN CHICAGO. A flash flood in suburban Park Ridge, Chicago, brought on 1.6 inches of rain in 30 minutes Thursday and a short time after it was all over the young folk used a canoe to cruise through the streets. Most residents of the suburb, however, found the situation less gay. Firemen got 185 calls to pump out flooded basements in the first hour after the flood hit. Water in many areas stood 2 to 3 feet. Ohio's House Faces Pile Of Jobs Monday

Delays Action On Lobbying Measure; More Study Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House has built up a pile of work for itself Monday, including action on a controversial bill to restrict lobbying.

Compounding the Monday chores faced by the House is a bill raising the rate of employer contributions to the unemployment compensation fund.

The lobbying bill was carried over from Thursday's calendar because of a desire for further study by House Speaker Roger Cloud.

The House Thursday passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

Ban all sales of intoxicants on Christmas Day.

Allow cities and counties to protest new liquor and beer permits in their areas.

Spur sale of bonds issued to finance water and sewer systems in built-up suburban areas by deferring payment of assessments up to 20 years.

Reduce from 30 to five days the limit for disciplinary suspension of state and local civil service employes.

The Senate, without debate, sent to the House a bill increasing membership of the Bowling Green State University board of trustees from five to seven. Sponsors indicated the measure is designed to quiet some of the unrest which has beset the campus since early spring. They said only six meetings of the board have been held in the last two years and expressed hope a larger board could meet more frequently.

The bill on Christmas Day sale of liquor started out to ban sales before 6 p.m. A surprise amendment banning all sales on the religious holiday was adopted and the bill was quickly passed.

The other House - approved liquor bill provides that counties and municipalities must be notified within 10 days when new beer and liquor permits are sought in their areas.

Reds Protest To Big 3 On Berlin Talks

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union has protested formally to the Western Big Three that West Germany is organizing "international provocations and endangering peace" by holding meetings of the West German Parliament in West Berlin.

Only last weekend Premier Khrushchev told President Kennedy in Vienna that West Berlin is a bone that must come out of the Soviet throat. The President replied the West had a right to be in Berlin and intended to stay there.

The latest Soviet complaint was in notes handed the American, French and British embassies in Moscow. It was made public by the Soviet Tass news agency.

Bonn announced Thursday night that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will visit Berlin next month. The official East German news agency ADN described this as "the high point of this year's Bonn provocations in West Berlin" and indicated the Communists would kick up another fuss.

'Free Hand' Assured For Dominican Probe

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Slain dictator Rafael Trujillo's political heirs have assured the investigating committee from the Organization of American States a free hand for their inquiry.

Augusto Arango of Panama, the head of the OAS mission, told a news conference President Joaquin Balaguer and Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera Baez had promised their government's complete cooperation at a meeting Thursday.

The mission came to Ciudad Trujillo Wednesday to determine if the Dominican government is making good on its promises since Trujillo's assassination to end repression and lay the basis for a democratic system.

Arango said his group's first step would be to visit all political prisoners and their relatives.

Budget Hiked To $408,481 For Midland

Council Increases Fund $43,086 To Meet Bond Costs

Midland Borough Council Thursday evening gave final approval to a 1961 budget of $408,481.59, which is $43,086.49 higher than last year's $365,395.10.

Increases are due mainly to $20,000 for principal on sewage plant bonds, $18,825 for interest, $12,860 for miscellaneous and $4,595 for police protection and paid-up insurance for borough employes. There were other smaller increases and some decreases.

Council Feb. 9 set a tax rate of 13 mills on property. Beaver County courts recently approved the borough's $10 yearly occupation tax, which will bring in $60,000.

The tax rate was a decrease of 3 mills from 1960. The borough's rate stood at 16 mills since 1957. The borough now has only the property and occupation taxes. The 1960 budget was about $15,000 lower than that of 1959.

Actual expenditures last year were $357,210.79, some $8,184.31 less than anticipated, and the borough carried over $17,110.91 into the new fiscal year.

Estimated receipts include cash and securities for appropirations, $17,110.91, current tax levy, $248,990.50; taxes of prior years, $9,673.36; miscellaneous revenue, and occupation tax, $83,561, and from non-revenue sources $49,145.82, totaling $408,481.59.

Expenditures will include general government — administration, $29,866, with a capital outlay of $100, tax collection, $7,500, and borough buildings and offices, $13,000, with a capital outlay of $1,250, totaling $51,716. Last year's estimated total was $54,270.

Police, fire and property protection — police, $82,468, fire, $16,450, and building regulation, planning and zoning, $350, totaling $99,268; last year's was $102,723.

Health and sanitation — Board of Health, $1,345, sanitary sewers, $2,200, public comfort stations, $300, garbage collection and disposal, $26,500, and ash and rubbish collection and disposal, $23,500, totaling $53,845; last year's was $52,300.

Highways — streets and bridges, $43,680.09, with a capital outlay of $1,600, and street lighting, $22,000, totaling $65,680.09; last year's was $68,974.60.

Recreation — parks and playgrounds, $2,350, with a capital outlay of, $2,135, shade trees, $7,500,

Mailing Of County Tax Bills Nears End

The county treasurer's office at Lisbon expects to complete mailing of more than 40,000 tax statements by late this afternoon, representing real estate taxes for the second half of 1960, payable in 1961. The closing date is July 10.

About 23,500 of the letters have been mailed in the last few days, according to A. G. Marshall, chief deputy. The tax statements are mailed as an aid to collection and failure of the statement to reach a property-owner does not give him a legal defense against penalties, Marshall said.

For Healing Aching Back

Kennedy's Prescription: Swim In Warm Water

Kennedy flew here from Washington Thursday afternoon within a few hours after the first announcement he had been suffering from a painful back injury since May 16.

Dr. Travell came along to keep a watchful eye on her famous patient, although the bothersome back might have been all right by now if Kennedy hadn't gone through such a heavy schedule abroad.

Piqua Area Struck Hard By Tornado

'Giant Fist' Grabs Up Houses, Barns Like 'Matchsticks'

PIQUA, Ohio (AP)—"A giant fist" of a tornado reached out of the blue Thursday evening and grabbed up trailer homes, power and phone lines, trees and barns like they were matchsticks.

The twister hit just north of Piqua and caused devastation in a three-mile radius. But no one was reported injured.

"I know I may be seeing things, but I just saw a big tree flying in the air," said an out-of-breath, unidentified fisherman who rushed into police headquarters here.

Moments later police received a tornado report from a housewife who viewed the swirling black funnel from a window in her basement and described it as "a giant fist."

"It reached down and grabbed our garage roof into the air and whirled it around in that field," said Mrs. William Stanton.

"It was all over just like that," she told a reporter, snapping her fingers.

A trailer home owned by Mrs. Jewell Sherer, a schoolteacher, was blown off its foundation. Its undercarriage was ripped off and it slammed into the side of Mrs. Stanton's garage.

Mrs. Stanton and her daughter "started screaming for we feared that Mrs. Sherer might be in her home." But she wasn't.

Adjacent to the Stanton home is the H. & H. Mobile Homes Sales Service, where at least five trailers were heavily damaged.

Fred Houser, co-owner of H. & H., said loss on his property would be in excess of $100,000, including about $45,000 to his trailers.

One wall of a concrete display building on Houser's property collapsed on a new trailer. Houser and an employe, Robert Bryan, were working on a truck in the building when the tornado hit.

"I heard a roar," Houser said. "I stepped outside and looked west and saw this black funnel reaching down. I yelled to Bob and we ran back inside and crawled under the truck. Moments later the entire north wall of the building collapsed."

Elsewhere, the 120-foot radio tower of the Ohio Highway Patrol's Piqua post was knocked down. This cut the post's radio contact with state headquarters in Columbus, but teletype communication was maintained.

After hitting the trailer sales lot, the twister dipped down at a small housing subdivision a mile away. Three houses, two under construction, were damaged.

About 100 trees were uprooted in that area and a barn was razed.

Near Enon in Clark County, many trees and two barns were bowled over by the high winds.

Passage Slated Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy wrapped up a smashing victory on the $6.14 billion housing bill in the Senate early today, but only after a bitter fight through a marathon 13½ hour session.

But the Senate only quit at 1:35 a.m. after the bill had been advanced to a stage at which no further changes are possible.

Thus on Monday there will be only talk and a seemingly assured vote to pass the bill and send it on to the House.

But this turned out to be the case only after administration lieutenants battled for hours to reverse a severe defeat suffered Thursday afternoon at the hands of a Democrat.

Administration forces had been knocking down attempts by Republicans to chop the bill but they were caught by surprise at a maneuver by a Democrat, Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Gore won, 49 to 44, adoption of an amendment cutting from the bill the entire moderate income family program advanced by the administration. This is one of the new features of the bill on which Kennedy has set great store.

In its original form, it sought to aid families in the $4,000 to $6,000 bracket by offering no-down-payment, 40-year mortgages to buy homes, and similar-term, low-interest rate loans to non-profit groups to build apartments.

Wife Slayer Avoids Life For Murder

Jury Out 2 Hours Convicting Potter On Lesser Charge

Raymond Campbell of River Rd., convicted Thursday of first degree manslaughter in the slaying of his wife Nov. 28 at their Beechwood home, today faced a prison term of 1-20 years.

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated for just over two hours yesterday afternoon at Lisbon before reporting a verdict in the trial which began Monday.

Prosecutor William Brokaw had sought a conviction for second degree murder, carrying a life penalty, for Campbell, 26, who emptied a nine-shot pistol at his attractive wife after she told him she was leaving him.

Campbell, free under $10,000 bond, has three days in which to file a motion for a new trial. Judge Joel H. Sharp deferred sentencing.

The panel started at 2:30 to weigh verdicts, which included guilty or not guilty of murder, not guilty by reason of insanity and guilty or not of manslaughter.

Campbell showed little emotion when the verdict was read after the jury returned at 4:40 p. m.

Testimony during the trial showed various men had visited Mrs. Doris Mae Campbell in the past two years after Campbell, a potter, would leave for work in the mornings.

The day of the shooting Campbell and his wife, who had returned to him, and Phelps discussed the love triangle, and Phelps said she should return to Campbell for good.

But when they returned to the Reynolds St. home, Mrs. Campbell apparently told her husband she planned to leave him.

He took a pistol from a dresser, fatally wounded her, then went into the living room and fired a derringer into his groin, later saying he had planned to kill himself.

Castro Told Tractors Are Set To Roll

Citizens Committee Says Next Move Is Now Up To Fidel

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee is ready to send Fidel Castro the 500 tractors he asks in exchange for 1,200 invasion prisoners as well as a team of experts to negotiate the deal. The next move is up to him.

The committee cabled the Cuban prime minister Thursday night that "we are prepared to move with dispatch and ship the first consignment of 100 tractors not later than two weeks from today, to be followed by additional consignments of tractors in lots of 100 until the total of 500 are delivered."

It cautioned Castro, however, that "we trust you are equally prepared to move with dispatch to release the prisoners. We remind you of our insistence that you make available to us without further delay a complete list of the 1,214 prisoners involved so that we can develop satisfactory procedures for verifying the identity of those released.

Woman Hurt In Truck And Car Collision

Victim Listed 'Fair' After Accident At Laughlins Corners

An elderly Pennsylvania woman is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital as the aftermath of a car-truck accident Thursday afternoon at Laughlins Corners in which her daughter failed to stop at the intersection of Routes 30 and 168.

Mrs. John Burchak of Meadowlands in Washington County was admitted to the hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from shock and a contusion of the right side.

Pennsylvania State Police at Carnegie said Mrs. Alyce Jean Schultz, 35, of Houston, Pa., failed to stop at the intersection and her car was struck by a westbound truck operated by Bernard Stasik of Pittsburgh.

The trucker, headed down the grade at a low rate of speed, attempted to swerve to the right but was unable to avoid the collision, knocking the car into a ditch, police said.

Mrs. Schultz told officers she,

Barron Starts Plans For Special Session

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Barron has invited members of Senate and House Rules committees to meet with him and his financial advisers at 2 p. m. EDT, here next Monday in connection with an upcoming special legislative session.

The conference reportedly was set up after several legislative leaders discussed with Public Assistance Director W. Bernard Smith Wednesday certain public welfare and related legislation envisioned that would cost about $7 million in state funds.

Service Board Angered

Clerk Job Test Postponed After Anonymous Charge

The Municipal Civil Service Commission Thursday afternoon agreed to postpone an examination it was to hold Monday night for a clerk - stenographer's job in the city income tax office, visibly angered by an anonymous note charging the questions had been furnished in advance to a woman employe of the office who is one of the 12 applicants for the test.

The decision to postpone the test to permit thorough investigation of the charges "and other propaganda and rumors" was made by Donal I. Burcham and Clarence E. Reagle, two members of the three - man commission, after they conferred at City Hall with Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver and D. G. Wilkinson, head of the tax office.

THE ANONYMOUS charge alleged that Wilkinson, who had drafted some suggested questions for inclusion in the clerk - stenographer's exam, had then turned them over to Ginger E. Hile, 1260 Erie St., now employed in the tax office although not under Civil Service.

Wilkinson heatedly denied the charge. Burcham and Reagle said the commission members prepared their own test questions and had not intended interpolating any of those drafted by Wilkinson.

The investigation was set off by

Potters Finish Plans For Outing Saturday

An IBOP committee said today it has put the finishing touches on the program for the 33rd annual Potters Picnic, expected to attract 35,000 Saturday to Meyers Lake Park at Canton.

Highlights of the formal program will be a baby show at 1:30 p. m.; a penny scramble immediately afterward; free dancing from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and a "junior bathing beauty" contest at 3:15.

All rides throughout the park, with two exceptions, will be free from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. Free coffee and cream will be dispensed throughout the day — in big containers at meal times and by cupsful at any time.

For Healing Aching Back

Kennedy's Prescription: Swim In Warm Water

Kennedy flew here from Washington Thursday afternoon within a few hours after the first announcement he had been suffering from a painful back injury since May 16.

Dr. Travell came along to keep a watchful eye on her famous patient, although the bothersome back might have been all right by now if Kennedy hadn't gone through such a heavy schedule abroad.

Piqua Area Struck Hard By Tornado

PIQUA, Ohio (AP)—"A giant fist" of a tornado reached out of the blue Thursday evening and grabbed up trailer homes, power and phone lines, trees and barns like they were matchsticks.

The twister hit just north of Piqua and caused devastation in a three-mile radius. But no one was reported injured.

"I know I may be seeing things, but I just saw a big tree flying in the air," said an out-of-breath, unidentified fisherman who rushed into police headquarters here.

Moments later police received a tornado report from a housewife who viewed the swirling black funnel from a window in her basement and described it as "a giant fist."

"It reached down and grabbed our garage roof into the air and whirled it around in that field," said Mrs. William Stanton.

"It was all over just like that," she told a reporter, snapping her fingers.

A trailer home owned by Mrs. Jewell Sherer, a schoolteacher, was blown off its foundation. Its undercarriage was ripped off and it slammed into the side of Mrs. Stanton's garage.

Mrs. Stanton and her daughter "started screaming for we feared that Mrs. Sherer might be in her home." But she wasn't.

Adjacent to the Stanton home is the H. & H. Mobile Homes Sales Service, where at least five trailers were heavily damaged.

Fred Houser, co-owner of H. & H., said loss on his property would be in excess of $100,000, including about $45,000 to his trailers.

One wall of a concrete display building on Houser's property collapsed on a new trailer. Houser and an employe, Robert Bryan, were working on a truck in the building when the tornado hit.

"I heard a roar," Houser said. "I stepped outside and looked west and saw this black funnel reaching down. I yelled to Bob and we ran back inside and crawled under the truck. Moments later the entire north wall of the building collapsed."

Elsewhere, the 120-foot radio tower of the Ohio Highway Patrol's Piqua post was knocked down. This cut the post's radio contact with state headquarters in Columbus, but teletype communication was maintained.

After hitting the trailer sales lot, the twister dipped down at a small housing subdivision a mile away. Three houses, two under construction, were damaged.

About 100 trees were uprooted in that area and a barn was razed.

Near Enon in Clark County, many trees and two barns were bowled over by the high winds.

Barron Starts Plans For Special Session

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Barron has invited members of Senate and House Rules committees to meet with him and his financial advisers at 2 p. m. EDT, here next Monday in connection with an upcoming special legislative session.

The conference reportedly was set up after several legislative leaders discussed with Public Assistance Director W. Bernard Smith Wednesday certain public welfare and related legislation envisioned that would cost about $7 million in state funds.

Passage Slated Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy wrapped up a smashing victory on the $6.14 billion housing bill in the Senate early today, but only after a bitter fight through a marathon 13½ hour session.

But the Senate only quit at 1:35 a.m. after the bill had been advanced to a stage at which no further changes are possible.

Thus on Monday there will be only talk and a seemingly assured vote to pass the bill and send it on to the House.

But this turned out to be the case only after administration lieutenants battled for hours to reverse a severe defeat suffered Thursday afternoon at the hands of a Democrat.

Administration forces had been knocking down attempts by Republicans to chop the bill but they were caught by surprise at a maneuver by a Democrat, Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Gore won, 49 to 44, adoption of an amendment cutting from the bill the entire moderate income family program advanced by the administration. This is one of the new features of the bill on which Kennedy has set great store.

In its original form, it sought to aid families in the $4,000 to $6,000 bracket by offering no-down-payment, 40-year mortgages to buy homes, and similar-term, low-interest rate loans to non-profit groups to build apartments.

Castro Told Tractors Are Set To Roll

Citizens Committee Says Next Move Is Now Up To Fidel

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee is ready to send Fidel Castro the 500 tractors he asks in exchange for 1,200 invasion prisoners as well as a team of experts to negotiate the deal. The next move is up to him.

The committee cabled the Cuban prime minister Thursday night that "we are prepared to move with dispatch and ship the first consignment of 100 tractors not later than two weeks from today, to be followed by additional consignments of tractors in lots of 100 until the total of 500 are delivered."

It cautioned Castro, however, that "we trust you are equally prepared to move with dispatch to release the prisoners. We remind you of our insistence that you make available to us without further delay a complete list of the 1,214 prisoners involved so that we can develop satisfactory procedures for verifying the identity of those released.

Woman Hurt In Truck And Car Collision

Victim Listed 'Fair' After Accident At Laughlins Corners

An elderly Pennsylvania woman is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital as the aftermath of a car-truck accident Thursday afternoon at Laughlins Corners in which her daughter failed to stop at the intersection of Routes 30 and 168.

Mrs. John Burchak of Meadowlands in Washington County was admitted to the hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from shock and a contusion of the right side.

Pennsylvania State Police at Carnegie said Mrs. Alyce Jean Schultz, 35, of Houston, Pa., failed to stop at the intersection and her car was struck by a westbound truck operated by Bernard Stasik of Pittsburgh.

The trucker, headed down the grade at a low rate of speed, attempted to swerve to the right but was unable to avoid the collision, knocking the car into a ditch, police said.

Mrs. Schultz told officers she,

Clerk Job Test Postponed After Anonymous Charge

The Municipal Civil Service Commission Thursday afternoon agreed to postpone an examination it was to hold Monday night for a clerk - stenographer's job in the city income tax office, visibly angered by an anonymous note charging the questions had been furnished in advance to a woman employe of the office who is one of the 12 applicants for the test.

The decision to postpone the test to permit thorough investigation of the charges "and other propaganda and rumors" was made by Donal I. Burcham and Clarence E. Reagle, two members of the three - man commission, after they conferred at City Hall with Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver and D. G. Wilkinson, head of the tax office.

THE ANONYMOUS charge alleged that Wilkinson, who had drafted some suggested questions for inclusion in the clerk - stenographer's exam, had then turned them over to Ginger E. Hile, 1260 Erie St., now employed in the tax office although not under Civil Service.

Wilkinson heatedly denied the charge. Burcham and Reagle said the commission members prepared their own test questions and had not intended interpolating any of those drafted by Wilkinson.

The investigation was set off by

Jury Out 2 Hours Convicting Potter On Lesser Charge

Raymond Campbell of River Rd., convicted Thursday of first degree manslaughter in the slaying of his wife Nov. 28 at their Beechwood home, today faced a prison term of 1-20 years.

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated for just over two hours yesterday afternoon at Lisbon before reporting a verdict in the trial which began Monday.

Prosecutor William Brokaw had sought a conviction for second degree murder, carrying a life penalty, for Campbell, 26, who emptied a nine-shot pistol at his attractive wife after she told him she was leaving him.

Campbell, free under $10,000 bond, has three days in which to file a motion for a new trial. Judge Joel H. Sharp deferred sentencing.

The panel started at 2:30 to weigh verdicts, which included guilty or not guilty of murder, not guilty by reason of insanity and guilty or not of manslaughter.

Campbell showed little emotion when the verdict was read after the jury returned at 4:40 p. m.

Testimony during the trial showed various men had visited Mrs. Doris Mae Campbell in the past two years after Campbell, a potter, would leave for work in the mornings.

The day of the shooting Campbell and his wife, who had returned to him, and Phelps discussed the love triangle, and Phelps said she should return to Campbell for good.

But when they returned to the Reynolds St. home, Mrs. Campbell apparently told her husband she planned to leave him.

He took a pistol from a dresser, fatally wounded her, then went into the living room and fired a derringer into his groin, later saying he had planned to kill himself.

Potters Finish Plans For Outing Saturday

An IBOP committee said today it has put the finishing touches on the program for the 33rd annual Potters Picnic, expected to attract 35,000 Saturday to Meyers Lake Park at Canton.

Highlights of the formal program will be a baby show at 1:30 p. m.; a penny scramble immediately afterward; free dancing from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and a "junior bathing beauty" contest at 3:15.

All rides throughout the park, with two exceptions, will be free from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. Free coffee and cream will be dispensed throughout the day — in big containers at meal times and by cupsful at any time.

Test For Job Delayed After Cheat Charge

a typewritten, unsigned note which P. K. Calhoon, the commission's clerk, said he found in the board's pigeonhole - type mailbox at City Hall. Typed all in capitals it read:

"I understand the civil service commission asked Mr. Wilkinson to make a brief of the income tax test and he in turn gave it to Ginger Hile with the answers. Do you think that is fair to the other 11 girls that is (sic) going to take the test? It seems that it is all cut and dry from the beginning."

THE THIRD member of the commission, Atty. Ben H. Berman, was not able to attend because he was out of town.

The commission convened shortly before 4 p. m. yesterday in its office at City Hall.

"We both were called out of bed and told that something shady was going on," Reagle said. "I won't stand for it. We're innocent of anything that's going on. I want the people to know this commission is not being run like some former commissions."

Then he handed the anonymous typewritten note to Copenhaver and asked the director if he knew where it might have come from. The director denied any knowledge of the note and pointed out it would be difficult to trace an unsigned communication prepared on a typewriter.

WILKINSON THEN explained his part in the case, declaring that no one saw the sample questions he prepared except himself before they were turned over to Calhoon.

Wilkinson said he acted at the suggestion of City Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, who is overall head of the tax department and Wilkinson's immediate superior. Dawson suggested it might be helpful to the commission if Wilkinson prepared some questions and turned them over to the commission for use in the test, he said.

"Those questions were composed by myself and written at my home over the weekend," Wilkinson said. "No one saw them except myself before I turned them over to Mr. Calhoon."

The questions were printed in ink on long sheets of yellow legal size paper. However, no answers were included. Attached to the questions was a so-called letter of transmittal signed by Wilkinson and explaining he prepared the queries as an aid to the commission at the suggestion of Dawson.

AT THE LOWER left hand corner of the letter were the initials DGW gh, indicating Ginger Hile typed the letter for Wilkinson's signature. Wilkinson said he kept the questions in his possession and then attached them to the letter after it had been typed. But the typist did not see the questions, he asserted.

Wilkinson offered to "bet my house and lot against a ten dollar bill" that no one except himself had seen the draft of questions.

The commission members told Wilkinson they believed his explanation, but they said they were trying to get to the bottom of the rumors that were circulating about the impending test.

Reagle and Calhoon explained that for several years it had been the commission's practice to buy tests already made up by a professional concern, supplied with a "key" to the answers. The tests were mailed to the commission, which kept them under lock and key, and were not opened until the last moment before a test—and then in the presence of all members of the commission.

BUT COUNCIL did not appropriate enough funds this year to permit the commission to carry on its operations as in the past, including the purchase of tests, they explained. Therefore, the commission had made up its own test to be used for the income tax office post, they added.

Burcham and Reagle both conceded that none of the questions included in Wilkinson's draft had been incorporated into the test the commission intended to use.

"There are stories going around City Hall that we are crooked and we are passing around the questions and answers for this test," Reagle said. "If we had used this test (indicating the questions prepared by Wilkinson) she might have had the answers."

Again Wilkinson denied that anyone except himself had seen the questions he prepared.

"I thought I was helping you out," he commented. "I would ten times rather that the commission made up its own examination."

REAGLE commented that "Dawson was wrong" in asking Wilkinson to prepare the questions and turn them over to the commission.

Queried about how he turned over the questions to the commission, Wilkinson said he signed the letter of transmittal as soon as it was typed, folded it up with the questions and turned them over to Calhoon almost immediately.

At this point, Reagle and Burcham agreed to postpone the test "to investigate the allegations and rumors" surrounding it. They explained the rules of the commission allow them to postpone a test for various reasons, including "sufficient cause."

They said initially they may meet this afternoon to discuss the case again and perhaps set a new date for the exam. However, no time has been set for a meeting. Meanwhile, the commission's rules require it to publish a legal notice explaining that the test has been postponed and giving the reason.

REAGLE SAID the test will be postponed "until we get this straightened out."

The test concerns a $250-a-month post created a few weeks ago by Council to augment the income tax office staff. The commission will certify the names of the three with the three top grades to Dawson, who as treasurer is the "appointing authority."

Odd Fellows Unit Sets Program To Honor Veterans

Plans for Veteran Pins Night June 22 were completed at a meeting of the Pennova 880 IOOF Lodge Thursday evening in the East End lodge hall.

Castro Declares Cuba 'Open' To Americans

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said today Cuba is open to Americans and Cubans are free to go to the United States—"even to go to American universities to see if they can be brainwashed there."

The revolutionary leader berated foreign news agencies for their reports on the Cuban situation and declared: "Revolutions are the most misunderstood events in the history of the world and history is made not by news agencies but by the revolutionaries. We have never said we are Communists. This is a name that has been given to us. This is a socialist revolution."

Pennsylvania Given Man In City Cutting

Eugene Simmons Jr., 26, of Aliquippa, waived extradition Thursday before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard and was turned over to Pennsylvania authorities on a charge of non-support.

Simmons was being held in the County Jail under $2,000 bond on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in the cutting of Henry Roach Jr. at the Social Club in East End May 26.

Simmons was returned to Beaver County yesterday for trial on non-support. If not sentenced, he will be returned to Columbiana County for trial on the assault charge.

In other business, Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, read a letter from Michael Baker Jr., Inc., concerning a sewage rate study it is making. The firm said the study will be completed shortly after a count has been made at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Counters for two sewage ejector stations at the steel company have been ordered to give an accurate measure of sewage flow there. They are expected anytime and the rate study should be completed soon afterwards, Steve Germusa, Council president, said.

Councilman Joseph D'Alesio, who is president of Steelworkers Local 1212, reported the union's legislative committee has learned that construction of piers for the Midland - Shippingport Bridge should get under way no later than October.

Councilman Harvey Sponcer reported on a meeting concerning the Peoples Natural Gas Co.'s plans to close its Midland office and move to Hopewell Township.

He attended the meeting, along with Councilmen William Vinovhich, Joseph Hibbard and Germusa, Charles Finley of the First National Bank, three representatives of the gas company and George M. Burrier, manager of the Midland Works of Crucible Steel.

Sponcer's report was similar to the announcement made recently by the gas utility company. He said the company plans to maintain service. Trouble will be reported to the Hopewell office and radio-equipped crews will take care of repairs.

He said that in an event of fire, the company will have two men residing in the borough to give assistance. Sponcer said the company will probably arrange for customers to pay bills at a bank.

Sponcer also said the gas company may offer its property for sale in the next two years.

He said that if there is no better service from the Duquesne Light Co., which also serves the borough, then a meeting with the utilities representatives should be called.

Hibbard commented that if the gas company becomes lax in its service, the matter should be protested to the Public Utilities Commission.

Council awarded a contract on a low bid of $600 for 500 feet of 1½-inch fire hose, at $1.20 a foot, to the McCormick Fire Equipment Co. Sponcer read two other bids, the Republic Rubber Co., at $1.80, and American LaFrance, $1.23.

A request of Charles Replane and Clarence Grimm to teach junior and senior Red Cross life-saving courses was turned over to the swimming pool committee for study. Vinovich heads that committee.

Both taught the courses last year. According to the rqeuest, classes would be held for two weeks from 6 to 8 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Their fee would be $100.

A letter from Joseph M. Jonas, chairman for the Easter Seal campaign in the Midland area, thanked Council for use of a fire truck in a parade March 25.

Germusa, on behalf of Council and citizens, offered congratulations to Burgess Eli G. Corak on his recent appointment as a Beaver County commissioner.

Germusa said Council will cancel its meeting June 22 since borough officials will be attending the boroughs' convention in Philadelphia for several days, returnnig June 21. He said that Council would meet in case of an emergency.

Test For Job Delayed After Cheat Charge

a typewritten, unsigned note which P. K. Calhoon, the commission's clerk, said he found in the board's pigeonhole - type mailbox at City Hall. Typed all in capitals it read:

"I understand the civil service commission asked Mr. Wilkinson to make a brief of the income tax test and he in turn gave it to Ginger Hile with the answers. Do you think that is fair to the other 11 girls that is (sic) going to take the test? It seems that it is all cut and dry from the beginning."

THE THIRD member of the commission, Atty. Ben H. Berman, was not able to attend because he was out of town.

The commission convened shortly before 4 p. m. yesterday in its office at City Hall.

"We both were called out of bed and told that something shady was going on," Reagle said. "I won't stand for it. We're innocent of anything that's going on. I want the people to know this commission is not being run like some former commissions."

Then he handed the anonymous typewritten note to Copenhaver and asked the director if he knew where it might have come from. The director denied any knowledge of the note and pointed out it would be difficult to trace an unsigned communication prepared on a typewriter.

WILKINSON THEN explained his part in the case, declaring that no one saw the sample questions he prepared except himself before they were turned over to Calhoon.

Wilkinson said he acted at the suggestion of City Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, who is overall head of the tax department and Wilkinson's immediate superior. Dawson suggested it might be helpful to the commission if Wilkinson prepared some questions and turned them over to the commission for use in the test, he said.

"Those questions were composed by myself and written at my home over the weekend," Wilkinson said. "No one saw them except myself before I turned them over to Mr. Calhoon."

The questions were printed in ink on long sheets of yellow legal size paper. However, no answers were included. Attached to the questions was a so-called letter of transmittal signed by Wilkinson and explaining he prepared the queries as an aid to the commission at the suggestion of Dawson.

AT THE LOWER left hand corner of the letter were the initials DGW gh, indicating Ginger Hile typed the letter for Wilkinson's signature. Wilkinson said he kept the questions in his possession and then attached them to the letter after it had been typed. But the typist did not see the questions, he asserted.

Wilkinson offered to "bet my house and lot against a ten dollar bill" that no one except himself had seen the draft of questions.

The commission members told Wilkinson they believed his explanation, but they said they were trying to get to the bottom of the rumors that were circulating about the impending test.

Reagle and Calhoon explained that for several years it had been the commission's practice to buy tests already made up by a professional concern, supplied with a "key" to the answers. The tests were mailed to the commission, which kept them under lock and key, and were not opened until the last moment before a test—and then in the presence of all members of the commission.

BUT COUNCIL did not appropriate enough funds this year to permit the commission to carry on its operations as in the past, including the purchase of tests, they explained. Therefore, the commission had made up its own test to be used for the income tax office post, they added.

Burcham and Reagle both conceded that none of the questions included in Wilkinson's draft had been incorporated into the test the commission intended to use.

"There are stories going around City Hall that we are crooked and we are passing around the questions and answers for this test," Reagle said. "If we had used this test (indicating the questions prepared by Wilkinson) she might have had the answers."

Again Wilkinson denied that anyone except himself had seen the questions he prepared.

"I thought I was helping you out," he commented. "I would ten times rather that the commission made up its own examination."

REAGLE commented that "Dawson was wrong" in asking Wilkinson to prepare the questions and turn them over to the commission.

Queried about how he turned over the questions to the commission, Wilkinson said he signed the letter of transmittal as soon as it was typed, folded it up with the questions and turned them over to Calhoon almost immediately.

At this point, Reagle and Burcham agreed to postpone the test "to investigate the allegations and rumors" surrounding it. They explained the rules of the commission allow them to postpone a test for various reasons, including "sufficient cause."

They said initially they may meet this afternoon to discuss the case again and perhaps set a new date for the exam. However, no time has been set for a meeting. Meanwhile, the commission's rules require it to publish a legal notice explaining that the test has been postponed and giving the reason.

REAGLE SAID the test will be postponed "until we get this straightened out."

The test concerns a $250-a-month post created a few weeks ago by Council to augment the income tax office staff. The commission will certify the names of the three with the three top grades to Dawson, who as treasurer is the "appointing authority."

Odd Fellows Unit Sets Program To Honor Veterans

Plans for Veteran Pins Night June 22 were completed at a meeting of the Pennova 880 IOOF Lodge Thursday evening in the East End lodge hall.

The committee includes Thomas Dover, chairman, Ray Neidengard, Edward Wolf and Kenneth McBride. Guests will be present and refreshments will be served at 7:30.

H. Earle Fullerton, noble grand, presided, and members were asked to display stickers of the order on their cars. Stickers may be obtained from James Thomas, recording secretary.

David Robbins, chairman of a committee to clean the ceiling or the lodge hall, announced that members may contact him in regards to helping in the project.

Gene J. Bianchi, sovereign grand master, has proclaimed Tuesday as Memorial Day for deceased members. The lodge will conduct its memorial services June 19 at 7:30 at the lodge hall.

The annual picnic of the lodge and the Ohio City Rebekahs will be held July 15 at Thompson Park.

Members are to meet tonight at 7:30 at the Martin Funeral Home to pay respects for Mrs. Ida Ann Kidder, mother of A. Stanley Kidder, a lodge member.

Lisbon Diplomas Presented To 63

Dr. David E. Molyneaux of the First Presbyterian Church of Flint, Mich., was the speaker. He talked on "Horses Pose Problems."

Dr. Wade Bacon, president of the Board of Education, presented diplomas, assisted by George Nace Jr., principal, who introduced each senior.

The seniors entered the auditorium while Paul Kosower played "Pomp and Circumstance" at the piano. The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard of the First Presbyterian Church gave the invocation and read the Scripture.

The High School Girls' Chorus sang "O God Creator Blest" and "Onward Ye People," directed by James Kennedy.

Castro Declares Cuba 'Open' To Americans

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said today Cuba is open to Americans and Cubans are free to go to the United States—"even to go to American universities to see if they can be brainwashed there."

The revolutionary leader berated foreign news agencies for their reports on the Cuban situation and declared: "Revolutions are the most misunderstood events in the history of the world and history is made not by news agencies but by the revolutionaries. We have never said we are Communists. This is a name that has been given to us. This is a socialist revolution."

Pennsylvania Given Man In City Cutting

Eugene Simmons Jr., 26, of Aliquippa, waived extradition Thursday before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard and was turned over to Pennsylvania authorities on a charge of non-support.

Simmons was being held in the County Jail under $2,000 bond on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in the cutting of Henry Roach Jr. at the Social Club in East End May 26.

Simmons was returned to Beaver County yesterday for trial on non-support. If not sentenced, he will be returned to Columbiana County for trial on the assault charge.

Will They Call It Moondoggling?

We have been reading everything within reach about getting to the moon and back. But this is not an idea that can be assimilated like a marshmallow. It takes chewing and digesting.

For centuries and aeons—certainly in our own country for decades—man has been looking for something to do that won't get done before he is ready to start something else. Even the biggest things man has tackled, like the St. Lawrence Seaway, Hoover Dam, the Panama Canal and the interstate highway program run out of steam so fast they catch the busy doers with no alternatives when the work tapers off.

This could be the merit of the "Moondoggle." It should be called that because it has the vital elements of economic dogging, a technique that came to flower in the '30s when the search was on for work that couldn't be finished in the foreseeable

Moondoggling could not be finished before the 21st century, even if either the United States, or the Soviet Union, or both—or more likely the ingenious Japanese—learned how to get to the moon and back before 1970. There still would be the unfinished business of colonizing the place, converting the environment to something earthier, with neon signs and motels, and starting regular transportation service to and fro, the way it always has been when men staked out new frontiers and assumed everybody would want to go there.

This would take so many man-hours at so much an hour and much more than that for overtime that no one could see the end. Just peeking at it from here, experts are talking about billions just to get the thing into the study stage. Everybody can take a hand in moon-studying.

If moondoggling comes up to its potentialities, no one should have to worry about what to do for a generation. There always will be the moon to get to and back, now that everything else seems to have been done. And if the moondoggle runs out of steam we still will have Mercury, Venus, Mars, Saturn, Jupiter, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. They should keep men busy for the next million years.

Say It Again, Mr. Shriver

As we understand it, Sargent Shriver, President Kennedy's brother-in-law, who directs the Peace Corps, was talking about collective action to fill its ranks in an address he prepared for graduation exercises at DePaul University in Chicago.

He told business it should provide two-year leaves of absence for some of its more desirable personnel to serve in the Peace Corps, with re-employment benefits when they returned.

He told the labor unions they should send some of their best artisans to the Peace Corps, to do plumbing, wiring, carpentering and also to teach others how to do these things.

He told the teaching profession it should give up teachers and school administrators; farmers that they should give some of their young farmers; women that they should give up likely material for child care workers, nurses aids and teachers.

Talk like this is beginning to sound a little breathless, because Mr. Shriver knows better than to think the manpower he needs for the Peace Corps is going to come to him as the result of decisions made collectively.

Take a labor union as an example. Or take the AFL-CIO as an all-around example. Could it tap the shoulders of a thousand members and say, "Sargent Shriver wants you and you and you for the Peace Corps. You will receive only its nominal rate of pay while you are away for the next few years, but when you come back we'll try to help you persuade the boss to let you have your jobs back."

How's that again, Mr. Shriver?

Wasn't it the original idea that people were going to join the Peace Corps the way men used to join the French Foreign Legion —to do something useful with their lives instead of doing what they had been doing before? Or did all of us misread the prospectus?

Debris Or Not Debris

The arrival of seasonal temperatures in the district is again proving the Law of Litteration — "The shirtier the weather, the dirtier the streets."

Chester Council heard complaints of rubbish along railroad tracks in that city this week and other communities are pondering similar problems of trash dumping or careless tossing of papers, cartons, plastic containers, bottles, cans, wrappers and other summer debris.

Police work has curbed some dumping in the townships, but there still is far too much evidence of litterbugs throughout the district.

It will take more public cooperation and some stiff penalties to bring a cleaner look to all of our towns in the season ahead.

Memories Of A Bookseller

In March 1955 a 34-year-old bookseller from southern France threw the scare of a generation into government officials throughout the world with a well-organized tax revolt in his country. Tax revolts were not new. But well-organized revolts were new. Poujade was headline news in 1955.

He organized retail tradesmen into the Union for Defense of Tradesmen and Artisans and led a campaign for abolition of tax penalty laws and roving tax collectors. Before he could be whittled down to manageable size, his union had elected members to the French General Assembly, tied several French governments in knots and helped to pave the way for the rise to power of Charles de Gaulle under a new constitution that abandoned the country's traditional parliamentary system into a new presidential system.

Though Poujade himself came to a bad end politically, the inequities he brought to attention were part of the fuel for the discontent that made it possible for the De Gaulle reforms to be adopted after a crisis that threatened to turn into civil war.

Whether the new uprising against inequities in French agriculture can be compared with Poujadism, which was essentially a revolt against taxes by tradesmen and artisans, is uncertain. The resemblance lies in the fact the new uprising, like the one led by Poujade more than six years ago, is apparently well-organized.

The difference lies in the fact the new uprising is against a pattern in French farm economics, not payment of taxes. It was not an act against the state, like a tax revolt, but a protest against a policy. And what is the policy?

A market system for farm commodities that gives French farmers nominal prices for things that ultimately bring substantial prices when they have passed through the hands of middlemen—the same inequity that has infuriated generations of farmers in the United States who lacked a way to corner what they considered a fair share of the ultimate market value of their commodities.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A letter to Diana Cullom Davis, whose father reportedly demands a $3.8 million trust fund, created for her in her infancy, be given through him to Princeton:

Dear Diana, I hope you take General Grant's slogan "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" in your belief that a trust fund is a trust fund, not a bingo setup, a wheel of chance or something stamped "Good only until further notice." Chances are it will be an upset if any court decides the test of a young girl's reasonability is whether she will happily give almost four million dollars to a college with a cheery "Daddy says money is bad for me."

In your place I would not even make a compromise offer to give three cheers for Old Nassau. It looks like you will have to fight, which can be an advantage since Princeton will not like the prospect of having to play Yale, Harvard and Diana Davis all in one season.

I DON'T DIG papa's statement that you "have not lifted a finger to earn the trust fund and have no moral right to its disposition. It proves too much money goes to the heads of young people." It is news to most people that to keep a trust fund you have to earn it, or even lift an eyebrow; otherwise you are present but not voting when veto is proposed.

Your father is also quoted as saying, "Now my daughter has a lawyer and it appalls me." This makes me feel that you need not only a lawyer, but a few guides, guards, economic advisers, judo teachers and luck charms.

Stick it out, Diana. It would rock people widely if it came to pass that trust funds could be called off on account of rain, transferred by push button and pronounced bad because they go to the heads of beneficiaries.

Good Luck, ELMER

P.S. Can Princeton prove it lifted a finger to earn this dough? Or that it won't go to its head, especially if it helps put it out in front of Yale and Harvard?

MAYOR WAGNER of New York and 23 aides put on two lengthy TV shows in defense of administration. More people were put to sleep by it than any program in airwave history. Not that it wasn't well done. Fact is that TV is generally regarded as a medium for entertainment, relaxation and excitement. Listening to any burgomaster and staff explain troubles for two hours is like going to a circus to watch a pinochle game.

Only chance Mayor Wagner had was to wear LaGuardia's old sombrero, shot from hip and hold audience by offering jackpot prizes. Program should have been called "Mystery of the Burgomaster and the Slow Boil," or, according to Republicans, "The too Late, Late Show."

Law Puts Unions In Goldfish Bowl

By Victor Riesel

Life has become an open book for the nation's union chiefs. If they should decide to design a new crest for their old coat of arms they can simply use an emblazoned goldfish bowl. There are now teams of quiet Labor Department auditors dropping in on unions everywhere, it can be chronicled here. These teams have begun an audit of unions, great and small, huge internationals and tiny one-desk locals, joint councils and even the mos tpublicized and colorful units—an audit which will take many years and which will scan virtually every document of every union in the land.

Victor Riesel

For the moment the teams are spot checking. They have gone through the books of some 50 such unions at random. They still have over 50,000 to go. But they'll make it under the authority given them by the Landrum-Griffin Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act.

There is resentment, of course, though this marathon audit in no way insinuates wrongdoing. One of the most bitter of the dissenters is William J. Pachler, president of the Utility Workers Union of America.

HE WAS SITTING in his Washington headquarters not too long ago when one of the teams dropped in. As he related it quite angrily later, the visitation went something like this:

"Some of the questions asked me were — Who opens the mail? Who brings the deposits to the bank? How much cash receipts does the union receive? How do you handle the petty cash? Where are the preserved ballots of your last election to office? Have your local unions preserved the ballots of their election of their convention delegates? Where are the minutes of your executive committee and of your executive board?"

After two hours the quiet men asked for the books covering the reports filed with the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports, which is headed by an even quieter man, Commissioner John Holcombe.

This request did not exactly enthuse Pachler. Later he wrote to AFL-CIO president George Meany that "they asked for all vouchers, checks, minutes, bankbooks, deposit slips, bonding coverage and all other material that would be necessary for them to see whether or not our union was in complete compliance with the Landrum-Griffin Act."

THE UNION MAN then asked the team how long they planned to stay. They estimated two weeks. Then, in Pachler's own graphic words, he "hit the ceiling."

Many a ceiling in many headquarters has been similarly scraped these past few months. I report Mr. Pachler's distemper to you because he hit the phones as well as the roof.

He telephoned all the pertinent Labor Department divisions protesting the impertinency of a law he said "was conceived in sin and designed to harm labor and was shoved down labor's throats." He began organizing a revolt inside labor against this spot checking.

Commissioner Holcombe's division indicated that there was nothing personal in all this. It is the duty of all compliance and regulatory government agencies to check out reports filed with them. Finally the matter rested with Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg.

Pachler's position is that, "This auditing program, scheduled for all international and national unions and as many local unions as can be handled, is a program and complete accounting record of each and every labor union, it also pries into each and every operation of a labor union in practically every phase."

TO THIS ATTITUDE, Mr. Goldberg's written reply said in part, "It is for the best interests of unions and their members that they must now live in the goldfish bowl of national curiosity...

"To maintain the good will of fair minded employers, of public officials and of the mass of plain ordinary citizens, labor will constantly have to reaffirm that it has nothing to hide and much to proclaim."

These words are from one of labor's own peers. They are a sign of the times. Labor has come of age. The public has no right to pry. But it does have the right to know. And it will.

Perpetual Thunderstorm

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The last half of this century is like living through a perpetual thunderstorm, waiting for the next lightning bolt.

And for President Kennedy, now nearly five months in office, there's been steady rain on the roof, with few patches of sunlight.

He's gotten along well with Congress. But he inherited multiple dilemmas overseas and he's solved none of them.

It is difficult now to point to a single Kennedy achievement in foreign affairs unless perhaps in establishing better relations with the European allies.

Take a look:

1. He inherited the problem of Fidel Castro's Cuba — a constant trouble spot for the Unites States, if not a menace.

Kennedy approved the rebel invasion against Castro. It ended in disaster. And just because of it and because the United States lost prestige and is unlikely to try rough stuff again soon, Castro looks more solid than ever.

2. Kennedy inherited the dilemma of Laos where the Communist-supported Pathet Lao forces were slowly taking over the country. They stepped up their pace since Kennedy took office and he has found no way to stop them.

3. He hoped through a conference with the Russians and others at Geneva at least to get a cease-fire in Laos and agreement on a neutral government. The Communists have made hash of that notion in a way most bitter for Kennedy.

Just this week, in his TV broadcast immediately after returning from a talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Kennedy said they had agreed Laos should be free and neutral and that both wanted a cease-fire.

But in Laos the pro-Communists forces kept fighting until at Geneva the United States called their action a "blatant violation" of attempts at a cease-fire. The Geneva talks are in danger of breaking down.

4. At Geneva, also, Kennedy had hoped to negotiate with the Russians an agreement ending nuclear testing. The Russians made so much hash of these talks that agreement now seems impossible.

5. In South Viet Nam, where the government is supported and supplied by the United States, Communist guerrillas from North Viet Nam are putting the southern government in increasing jeopardy by stepping up their warfare.

6. In South Korea, where the United States supported and supplied the civilian government which it seemed to think was doing all right, Korean military leaders threw out the civilians and took over.

One of their main excuses: To wipe out "corruption." The net result, even though the new Korean military rulers express friendship for the United States, is an end to democratic government.

7. In the Middle East, Iran, right next door to the Soviet Union but helped by the United States, looks more wobbly than ever. Here, too, there was a government shake-up to end corruption.

Kennedy told congressional leaders that Khrushchev predicted to him that Iran would be lost to the West, although disclaiming any Soviet part in it.

8. In his TV talk Kennedy made it clear he told Khrushchev the United States would not let the Communist world shut off West Berlin, one of the most delicate of all spots in the West-East struggle.

Khrushchev apparently gave him no comfort. And Thursday Russia began stirring up a storm about Berlin, claiming the West German government is building trouble in West Berlin which, although linked to West Germany, lies in East Germany.

Kennedy is 44 now. There is thunder on all his horizons. Communism is cocky, confident, pushing. There's no let-up in sight anywhere. Kennedy has a remarkable head of hair. There should be a lot of gray in it before his first term ends.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Charles Kidd, Clarence Bell and Lee Copenhaver were chairman, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the committee on arrangements for the 99th annual convention of the Ohio Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows to be held here.

Damage estimated at $11,000 was caused by a fire at the David Samuels Shoe Store on Midland Ave., Midland.

Tom and Art Cloran teamed up to capture best ball medal play against par with full handicap at the East Liverpool Country Club.

TEN YEARS AGO — A donation of $200 toward the re-decorating fund was made by the Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Congress In The Dark

By David Lawrence

President's Talks Remain Unclear To U.S.

President Kennedy by his television address left many members of Congress puzzled. What did he really tell Soviet Premier Khrushchev? Is the United States now committed to go to war over the defense of West Berlin? Did Mr. Kennedy threaten war, or did he imply that America would not take any military steps if the Soviet Union makes a peace treaty with East Germany and leaves the matter of Allied access to West Berlin up to the East Germans?

David Lawrence

The President was abstract and general in his statements on the air he did not reveal exactly what he said, or what Mr. Krhcushchev told him on these vital issues.

Mr. Kennedy, moreover, didn't tell the American people on Tuesday night about the two memoranda on Berlin, disarmament and nuclear test problems which Mr. Khrushchev brought to the conference. Only after news dispatches from Bonn disclosed this on Wednesday did the State Department confirm that such memoranda had been given to Mr. Kennedy.

In his television address, Mr. Kennedy said, "No new aims were stated in private that have not been stated in public on either side."

WHO IS TO BE the judge of the meaning of that statement, especially when there is no record available even to Congress on what was said by either Mr. Kennedy or Mr. Khrushchev?

If nothing new was stated and, as Mr. Kennedy now says, "No major decisions were either planned or taken," then what were the several hours of private discussion about?

Why was the trip undertaken?

The President gave as his reason that he wanted to find out first-hand what Mr. Khrushchev thinks. He did not care to rely on what his ambassadors or what President Eisenhower told him after many years of experience with the Soviets.

Also, Mr. Kennedy says he wished to "present our view directly, precisely, realistically, and with an opportunity for discussion and clarification."

Yet, hardly any details of what went on during that "discussion" have thus far been revealed. If Mr. Kennedy says he sought to state America's position "precisely," it is important that Congress be told just what those "precise" positions are today.

The few members of the House or Senate who were "briefed" at the White House learned little more than what was said by Mr. Kennedy in his television address.

The President added to the mystery of why the meeting with the Soviet premier was ever undertaken when he said in his speech:

"Neither of us was there to dictate a settlement or to convert the other to a cause, or to concede our basic interests."

ONE WONDERS now whether the President really felt beforehand, too, that there was no use trying to "convert" the Soviet leader to a belief in peace — or anything else.

It is evident, however, that the issue of peace or war was discussed. There is a hint or threat of possible war in the following section of Mr. Kennedy's speech:

"But our most talks were on the subject of Germany and Berlin. I made it clear to Mr. Khrushchev that the security of Western Europe and, therefore, our own security are deeply involved in our presence and our access rights to West Berlin, that those rights are based on law and not on sufferance, and that we are determined to maintain those rights at any risk, and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin, and their right to choose their own future.

"Mr. Khrushchev in turn presented his views in detail and his presentation will be the subject of future communications, but we are not seeking to change the present situation. A binding German peace treaty is a matter for all who were at war with Germany, and we and our allies cannot abandon our obligations to the people of West Berlin."

THERE ARE rumors that while Mr. Kennedy made no "concessions," he gave the impression the Allies would not go to war merely over the signing of a peace treaty between the Soviets and East Germany. This impression, if conveyed by Kennedy, could have caused Mr. Khrushchev to do his "dancing" stunt in Moscow on his return.

But then, it will be asked, what was meant by the firm statement in the President's speech that the Allies "are determined to maintain those rights at any risk and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin"?

Congressional committees will not have the opportunity to interrogate the President in the same comprehensive way they could cross-examine a secretary of state. Mr. Kennedy conducted conversations alone with Mr. Khrushchev during the meeting in Vienna, but Mr. Kennedy can hold himself aloof from revealing to a congressional committee everything that happened.

The representatives of the American people will not get all the facts about any commitments or promises made by the President when he became his own ambassador and presented his views to Mr. Khrushchev "directly, precisely, realistically."

There is no "precise" record or detailed statement of the American position available either to Congress or to the American people.

Ready For Retraining

By Truman Twill

It never was the idea to excite us Walter Mittys with a way to dream away our frustration, but the federal government's forthcoming retraining program is making our hands tremble.

At the moment it's only a program to develop new skills among the unemployed and most of us Walter Mittys are employed. But as retraining becomes better understood, it will be used to help everybody who thinks it might be better to retrain for something else.

We never did believe shoemakers always should stick to their lasts. It never made sense to us that people should get stuck on one job, on the assumption that it was the thing they did best.

The only reason people get stuck is because they do not know how to get unstuck. If the great good government is planning to retrain the unemployed, we are sure its greatness and goodness will prompt it to retrain the employed, if they request this privilege. There is no difference in the principle of one and the other. In both cases, it would be the great, good government stepping up behind one of its citizens, tapping him on the shoulder and murmuring, "Brother, what can I do to earn your undying gratitude?"

I personally want to be retrained to be the overseer of a large agricultural project — the kind financed by a big-shot with money to throw away in long-term investment that can be subtracted from taxable income. I have thought about this for many years. As a teen-ager I watched such an overseer perform, and to this day I think he had it made in the shade, doubled and undoubled.

On nice days I'd ride a horse from place to place, the way he did, pointing out things to be done and occasionally thumping a wayward employe over the noggin with a riding crop — not hard, understand, but hard enough. On other days I'd drive an automobile fitted up like a business office, with beverages on tap and a cutie pie to take, er, uh, notes.

What I'd be, really, is a male housekeeper for the outdoors, which is something I'm good at, because things out of place in Ruritania make me uneasy. With my boss's money, I'd make everything look like a picture-book version of the countryside.

This would not be profitable, because picture-book versions of Ruritania and profit are incompatible. But remember? The idea is not to make money. The idea is to stash away capital in permanent improvements.

And what retraining would this require for a Walter Mitty like me, who dreams of being a big-shot? Some might think knowledge about agriculture would be required. They would be wrong.

The overseer I knew as a teen-ager didn't know any more about agriculture than a pig knows about Christmas. When you came right down to it, the slob didn't know much about anything, except how to ride a horse.

And that's my shortcoming.

Will They Call It Moondoggling?

We have been reading everything within reach about getting to the moon and back. But this is not an idea that can be assimilated like a marshmallow. It takes chewing and digesting.

For centuries and aeons—certainly in our own country for decades—man has been looking for something to do that won't get done before he is ready to start something else. Even the biggest things man has tackled, like the St. Lawrence Seaway, Hoover Dam, the Panama Canal and the interstate highway program run out of steam so fast they catch the busy doers with no alternatives when the work tapers off.

This could be the merit of the "Moondoggle." It should be called that because it has the vital elements of economic doggling, a technique that came to flower in the '30s when the search was on for work that couldn't be finished in the foreseeable

Moondoggling could not be finished before the 21st century, even if either the United States, or the Soviet Union, or both—or more likely the ingenious Japanese—learned how to get to the moon and back before 1970. There still would be the unfinished business of colonizing the place, converting the environment to something earthier, with neon signs and motels, and starting regular transportation service to and fro, the way it always has been when men staked out new frontiers and assumed everybody would want to go there.

This would take so many man-hours at so much an hour and much more than that for overtime that no one could see the end. Just peeking at it from here, experts are talking about billions just to get the thing into the study stage. Everybody can take a hand in moon-studying.

If moondoggling comes up to its potentialities, no one should have to worry about what to do for a generation. There always will be the moon to get to and back, now that everything else seems to have been done. And if the moondoggle runs out of steam we still will have Mercury, Venus, Mars, Saturn, Jupiter, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. They should keep men busy for the next million years.

Say It Again, Mr. Shriver

As we understand it, Sargent Shriver, President Kennedy's brother-in-law, who directs the Peace Corps, was talking about collective action to fill its ranks in an address he prepared for graduation exercises at DePaul University in Chicago.

He told business it should provide two-year leaves of absence for some of its more desirable personnel to serve in the Peace Corps, with re-employment benefits when they returned.

He told the labor unions they should send some of their best artisans to the Peace Corps, to do plumbing, wiring, carpentering and also to teach others how to do these things.

He told the teaching profession it should give up teachers and school administrators; farmers that they should give some of their young farmers; women that they should give up likely material for child care workers, nurses aids and teachers.

Talk like this is beginning to sound a little breathless, because Mr. Shriver knows better than to think the manpower he needs for the Peace Corps is going to come to him as the result of decisions made collectively.

Take a labor union as an example. Or take the AFL-CIO as an all-around example. Could it tap the shoulders of a thousand members and say, "Sargent Shriver wants you and you and you for the Peace Corps. You will receive only its nominal rate of pay while you are away for the next few years, but when you come back we'll try to help you persuade the boss to let you have your jobs back."

How's that again, Mr. Shriver?

Wasn't it the original idea that people were going to join the Peace Corps the way men used to join the French Foreign Legion —to do something useful with their lives instead of doing what they had been doing before? Or did all of us misread the prospectus?

Debris Or Not Debris

The arrival of seasonal temperatures in the district is again proving the Law of Litteration — "The shirtier the weather, the dirtier the streets."

Chester Council heard complaints of rubbish along railroad tracks in that city this week and other communities are pondering similar problems of trash dumping or careless tossing of papers, cartons, plastic containers, bottles, cans, wrappers and other summer debris.

Police work has curbed some dumping in the townships, but there still is far too much evidence of litterbugs throughout the district.

It will take more public cooperation and some stiff penalties to bring a cleaner look to all of our towns in the season ahead.

Memories Of A Bookseller

In March 1955 a 34-year-old bookseller from southern France threw the scare of a generation into government officials throughout the world with a well-organized tax revolt in his country. Tax revolts were not new. But well-organized revolts were new. Poujade was headline news in 1955.

He organized retail tradesmen into the Union for Defense of Tradesmen and Artisans and led a campaign for abolition of tax penalty laws and roving tax collectors. Before he could be whittled down to manageable size, his union had elected members to the French General Assembly, tied several French governments in knots and helped to pave the way for the rise to power of Charles de Gaulle under a new constitution that abandoned the country's traditional parliamentary system into a new presidential system.

Though Poujade himself came to a bad end politically, the inequities he brought to attention were part of the fuel for the discontent that made it possible for the De Gaulle reforms to be adopted after a crisis that threatened to turn into civil war.

Whether the new uprising against inequities in French agriculture can be compared with Poujadism, which was essentially a revolt against taxes by tradesmen and artisans, is uncertain. The resemblance lies in the fact the new uprising, like the one led by Poujade more than six years ago, is apparently well-organized.

The difference lies in the fact the new uprising is against a pattern in French farm economics, not payment of taxes. It was not an act against the state, like a tax revolt, but a protest against a policy. And what is the policy?

A market system for farm commodities that gives French farmers nominal prices for things that ultimately bring substantial prices when they have passed through the hands of middlemen—the same inequity that has infuriated generations of farmers in the United States who lacked a way to corner what they considered a fair share of the ultimate market value of their commodities.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A letter to Diana Cullom Davis, whose father reportedly demands a $3.8 million trust fund, created for her in her infancy, be given through him to Princeton:

Dear Diana, I hope you take General Grant's slogan "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" in your belief that a trust fund is a trust fund, not a bingo setup, a wheel of chance or something stamped "Good only until further notice." Chances are it will be an upset if any court decides the test of a young girl's reasonability is whether she will happily give almost four million dollars to a college with a cheery "Daddy says money is bad for me."

8. In his TV talk Kennedy made it clear he told Khrushchev the United States would not let the Communist world shut off West Berlin, one of the most delicate of all spots in the West-East struggle.

Khrushchev apparently gave him no comfort. And Thursday Russia began stirring up a storm about Berlin, claiming the West German government is building trouble in West Berlin which, although linked to West Germany, lies in East Germany.

Kennedy is 44 now. There is thunder on all his horizons. Communism is cocky, confident, pushing. There's no let-up in sight anywhere. Kennedy has a remarkable head of hair. There should be a lot of gray in it before his first term ends.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Charles Kidd, Clarence Bell and Lee Copenhaver were chairman, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the committee on arrangements for the 99th annual convention of the Ohio Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows to be held here.

Damage estimated at $11,000 was caused by a fire at the David Samuels Shoe Store on Midland Ave., Midland.

Tom and Art Cloran teamed up to capture best ball medal play against par with full handicap at the East Liverpool Country Club.

TEN YEARS AGO — A donation of $200 toward the re-decorating fund was made by the Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Congress In The Dark

By David Lawrence

President's Talks Remain Unclear To U.S.

President Kennedy by his television address left many members of Congress puzzled. What did he really tell Soviet Premier Khrushchev? Is the United States now committed to go to war over the defense of West Berlin? Did Mr. Kennedy threaten war, or did he imply that America would not take any military steps if the Soviet Union makes a peace treaty with East Germany and leaves the matter of Allied access to West Berlin up to the East Germans?

David Lawrence

The President was abstract and general in his statements on the air he did not reveal exactly what he said, or what Mr. Krhcushchev told him on these vital issues.

Mr. Kennedy, moreover, didn't tell the American people on Tuesday night about the two memoranda on Berlin, disarmament and nuclear test problems which Mr. Khrushchev brought to the conference. Only after news dispatches from Bonn disclosed this on Wednesday did the State Department confirm that such memoranda had been given to Mr. Kennedy.

In his television address, Mr. Kennedy said, "No new aims were stated in private that have not been stated in public on either side."

WHO IS TO BE the judge of the meaning of that statement, especially when there is no record available even to Congress on what was said by either Mr. Kennedy or Mr. Khrushchev?

If nothing new was stated and, as Mr. Kennedy now says, "No major decisions were either planned or taken," then what were the several hours of private discussion about?

Why was the trip undertaken?

The President gave as his reason that he wanted to find out first-hand what Mr. Khrushchev thinks. He did not care to rely on what his ambassadors or what President Eisenhower told him after many years of experience with the Soviets.

Also, Mr. Kennedy says he wished to "present our view directly, precisely, realistically, and with an opportunity for discussion and clarification."

Yet, hardly any details of what went on during that "discussion" have thus far been revealed. If Mr. Kennedy says he sought to state America's position "precisely," it is important that Congress be told just what those "precise" positions are today.

The few members of the House or Senate who were "briefed" at the White House learned little more than what was said by Mr. Kennedy in his television address.

The President added to the mystery of why the meeting with the Soviet premier was ever undertaken when he said in his speech:

"Neither of us was there to dictate a settlement or to convert the other to a cause, or to concede our basic interests."

ONE WONDERS now whether the President really felt beforehand, too, that there was no use trying to "convert" the Soviet leader to a belief in peace — or anything else.

It is evident, however, that the issue of peace or war was discussed. There is a hint or threat of possible war in the following section of Mr. Kennedy's speech:

"But our most talks were on the subject of Germany and Berlin. I made it clear to Mr. Khrushchev that the security of Western Europe and, therefore, our own security are deeply involved in our presence and our access rights to West Berlin, that those rights are based on law and not on sufferance, and that we are determined to maintain those rights at any risk, and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin, and their right to choose their own future.

"Mr. Khrushchev in turn presented his views in detail and his presentation will be the subject of future communications, but we are not seeking to change the present situation. A binding German peace treaty is a matter for all who were at war with Germany, and we and our allies cannot abandon our obligations to the people of West Berlin."

THERE ARE rumors that while Mr. Kennedy made no "concessions," he gave the impression the Allies would not go to war merely over the signing of a peace treaty between the Soviets and East Germany. This impression, if conveyed by Kennedy, could have caused Mr. Khrushchev to do his "dancing" stunt in Moscow on his return.

But then, it will be asked, what was meant by the firm statement in the President's speech that the Allies "are determined to maintain those rights at any risk and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin"?

Congressional committees will not have the opportunity to interrogate the President in the same comprehensive way they could cross-examine a secretary of state. Mr. Kennedy conducted conversations alone with Mr. Khrushchev during the meeting in Vienna, but Mr. Kennedy can hold himself aloof from revealing to a congressional committee everything that happened.

The representatives of the American people will not get all the facts about any commitments or promises made by the President when he became his own ambassador and presented his views to Mr. Khrushchev "directly, precisely, realistically."

There is no "precise" record or detailed statement of the American position available either to Congress or to the American people.

Ready For Retraining

By Truman Twill

It never was the idea to excite us Walter Mittys with a way to dream away our frustration, but the federal government's forthcoming retraining program is making our hands tremble.

At the moment it's only a program to develop new skills among the unemployed and most of us Walter Mittys are employed. But as retraining becomes better understood, it will be used to help everybody who thinks it might be better to retrain for something else.

We never did believe shoemakers always should stick to their lasts. It never made sense to us that people should get stuck on one job, on the assumption that it was the thing they did best.

The only reason people get stuck is because they do not know how to get unstuck. If the great good government is planning to retrain the unemployed, we are sure its greatness and goodness will prompt it to retrain the employed, if they request this privilege. There is no difference in the principle of one and the other. In both cases, it would be the great, good government stepping up behind one of its citizens, tapping him on the shoulder and murmuring, "Brother, what can I do to earn your undying gratitude?"

I personally want to be retrained to be the overseer of a large agricultural project — the kind financed by a big-shot with money to throw away in long-term investment that can be subtracted from taxable income. I have thought about this for many years. As a teen-ager I watched such an overseer perform, and to this day I think he had it made in the shade, doubled and undoubled.

On nice days I'd ride a horse from place to place, the way he did, pointing out things to be done and occasionally thumping a wayward employe over the noggin with a riding crop — not hard, understand, but hard enough. On other days I'd drive an automobile fitted up like a business office, with beverages on tap and a cutie pie to take, er, uh, notes.

What I'd be, really, is a male housekeeper for the outdoors, which is something I'm good at, because things out of place in Ruritania make me uneasy. With my boss's money, I'd make everything look like a picture-book version of the countryside.

This would not be profitable, because picture-book versions of Ruritania and profit are incompatible. But remember? The idea is not to make money. The idea is to stash away capital in permanent improvements.

And what retraining would this require for a Walter Mitty like me, who dreams of being a big-shot? Some might think knowledge about agriculture would be required. They would be wrong.

The overseer I knew as a teen-ager didn't know any more about agriculture than a pig knows about Christmas. When you came right down to it, the slob didn't know much about anything, except how to ride a horse.

And that's my shortcoming.

Newell Post Hears Officer

Speaking on "Membership," Rinehart said the 1st District has attained 104 per cent of its quota. He also commented that some of the more important phases of Legion activities are carried on at the post level.

Arthur Delong, child welfare officer, reported that Post 114 sponsored five youngsters to the Hancock County Youth Conservation Camp over the weekend at Tomlinson Run State Park.

Reports were heard on highlights of the 1st District convention held recently in Paden City. Tony LaNeve, adjutant, acted as district adjutant for the convention.

Several new nominations were heard from the floor. Officers will be elected June 21 and the polls will be open from 2 to 7:30 p. m. at the post home.

George LaNeve, a member of Post 114 and first vice commander of the West Virginia department, is serving as a councilor at Boys State this week at Jacksons Mill.

City Girl Graduates With High Honors

Miss Maxine Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Barrett of Cain St., was graduated summa cum laude with a bachelor's of arts degree in elementary education Sunday from the College of Steubenville.

An an alumni senior recognition night held previously, she was awarded the Alpha Phi Delta fraternity's alumni award as the senior with the highest academic average, and also was the first recipient of the Fr. Miss Barrett has received a fellowship for graduate study at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass. She is a 1956 graduate of East Liverpool High School.

Cubans' Property Up For Grabs In U.S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban property in the United States was up for grabs today by Americans whose holdings in Cuba were confiscated by Fidel Castro.

Circuit Judge Hal P. Dekle Thursday ruled that any Cuban property found in this country can be attached. He found in favor of Terry Kane, who contended that the Cubans confiscated $22,500 worth of farm equipment in his tractor agency.

Dekle's ruling skirts the so-called foreign acts doctrine under which the U.S. Supreme Court since 1897 has held that the courts of one country will not judge the acts of a foreign state within that country's own territory.

Couple At Salineville Marks 50th Wedding Anniversary

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rice, 108 W. Main St., Salineville, was quietly marked Wednesday.

Mrs. Rice has been a lifelong resident of Salineville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph. Her husband, a retired railroad telegraph operator, is a native of Norwalk, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rice.

They were married June 7, 1911, at the Christian Church rectory at Lisbon by Traverse Harrison, pastor.

Rice retired in 1951 after working with the Pennsylvania Railroad for 46 years. He was also an insurance agent for 22 years. He is a past master of Masonic Lodge 348 and is serving as lodge chaplain, and is an elder of the Church of Christ and is a past worthy patron of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Rice is a past worthy matron.

They have a son, Dr. Harold Rice of Philadelphia, and two daughters, Mrs. Bernice Eminik of Dayton and Mrs. Sara Koenke of St. Paul, Minn., and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Pete Marra and daughters of Summitville visited here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weaver returned Tuesday from a weekend trip to Sandusky.

Diane Tolson, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Tolson of Jefferson St., returned Wednesday from University Hospital at Cleveland after an operation.

Tobin Says No New Revenue Needed For Juvenile Camp

No new revenue would be required for construction of a proposed juvenile work camp, Probate Judge Louis Tobin said today in response to a statement from Columbiana County Commissioner Walter Hunston that a bond issue would be required.

Judge Tobin earlier this week said he had dropped plans for the youth camp, despite backing by some 65 organizations in the county, because Commissioner Hunston had "wrecked" the proposal.

Hunston counetred that he had made no public stand on the issue.

Judge Tobin said in an answering statement:

"There is no desire on my part to engage in a protracted controversy on the Youth Camp matter in the newspapers. However, there is one thing I would like to point out as a reply to Mr. Hunston.

"In 1956, the Fairmount Children's Home was sold and this county received $50,000 as its share. This money has now all been paid in. As of today, the auditor informs me there is $39,078.21 in this fund and $10,921.61 has been spent very properly and wisely in the Kyes Children's Receiving Home in East Palestine.

"The Revised Code (Sec. 5705.10) states; 'If a permanent improvement of a subdivision is sold, the amount received shall be paid into a sinking fund, the bond retirement or into a special fund for the construction or acquisition of permanent improvements.'

"It further goes on to say 'money paid into any fund shall be used only for the purposes for which the fund was established.' The Fairmount Children's Home money, I am told, was placed in a fund for permanent improvement. That is why some of it was used, very properly, on the Kyes Children's Receiving Home.

"I believe Mr. Hunston knows, or should have known, that this money is available for a permanent structure such as this camp, without the necessity of new monies as far as construction is concerned.

"Since the money was received from the children's home sale, it would seem to me to be very propert to expend it on a permanent improvement to help children who clearly need help."

what's new at Olsen's?

"Ollie Olsen"

Fashion prediction . . . chic days ahead . . . ! Whether dress up or play-time fashions, you will find all the newest at Olsen's. Wonder fabrics . . . no bother dacron . . . nylon ribbonettes . . . arnels and all the new blends that will make yours a carefree summer.

How would you ladies who wear half-size dresses like to find one that fits just perfectly . . . no costly alterations at waistline or hem. We discovered a whole rack of these dresses at Olsen's today. Here's the answer to those fitting problems. "Korell" is the name . . . fashioned with narrow shoulders, higher waistlines and length scaled accurately to your height. Styled for greater flattery, sized for better fit. Designed to greet summer with a fresh and pretty youthfulness that is most appropriate to you and your way of life.

There's so many different styles to choose from, voilles, dacrons, jerseys, and eyelets. All summery confections as lucious and refreshing as you will ever see at these prices. From 10.98 to 17.98, in sizes 12 plus to 24 plus. Take a vacation from an unruly wardrobe uncomplicated fashions that are beautiful to behold and behave without a wrinkle.

Speaking of cool confections, there's another dress at Olsen's that is colorful and refreshing as a spring rainbow. Designed by "Carol Marks" for the Missy figure. Sizes 10 to 18. It is fashioned of the newest miracle fabric, "T-62" — 100% dacron polyester. Looks like pure silk and feels like pure silk. Rainbow hued stripes of lilac, maize, turquoise, and rose, all blending together to make the most eye catching dress we've seen in a long time. The bodice has a bateau neck and the stripes are stitched all the way to the waistline. The skirt is pleated in such an unusual way for style and comfort. Truly a distinctive dress and priced at only 16.79.

We can always find something new in Olsen's accessory department. We were delighted with the new wicker handbags we found today. They have all the charm of natural wicker plus the practical aspects of a waterproof, split resisting plastic coating. Their contour shapes are so new and exciting. There's a smart looking oval basket featuring a Texan straw rope handle with a leather cover. Then, there's an oversized mail pouch type straw. There will always be room for one more of milady's personal items in this bag. It is simply huge, yet a bag you can carry with all your summer dresses. There are dozens more in straw or wicker. You're sure to find one to please you and the price is really amazing, just 2.88 up.

Remember Olsen's are open every night until nine for your shopping pleasure. That's all today, see you next Friday.

Kennedy

hopped out in his usual brisk manner.

Kennedy's present back trouble is described medically as a lumbosacral strain. The White House says it is unrelated to his previous serious back problems.

Dr. Travell thinks it will remedy itself rapidly with proper treatment, including rest and swimming in warm water.

Dr. Travell described the resultant pain as "a kind of constant discomfort or something like a steady toothache." But Kennedy had kept the injury from his staff, except for his physician.

Kennedy plans to remain here until late Sunday, resting and swimming. Golf has been ruled out.

Sixty-three attended the Family Night coverdish dinner Wednesday in the social rooms of the Oak Ridge United Presbyterian Church, honoring the Rev. E. E. Bacon, pastor, who has been in the ministry for 40 years. He has served the Oak Ridge church for 13 years.

Among guests were Rev. and Mrs. Bacon's daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Pew, of Warsaw, and their son, William E. Bacon of Canton. Mrs. Bacon, although bedfast, was able to attend.

Housing Development Approved At Weirton

WEIRTON — The City Planning Commission Thursday approved unanimously the first phase of a $32 million housing development planned by the Barone Realty Co.

The 600-home project will be constructed on Colliers Way in Weirton Heights, and is on a 170-acre tract purchased by the company two years ago.

A wooded, two-acre site will be dedicated as a park in the housing development, and additional acreage will be designated for a shopping center.

Ralph Barone said construction is scheduled to begin within two to three months.

3 Youngsters Suffer Injuries In Mishaps

Three youngsters were treated at City Hospital Thursday following separate mishaps.

Ronald Roach, 13, son of Mr and Mrs. Dale P. Haney, 700 Riley Ave., suffered a laceration of the base of the skull when he fell off a chair and his head struck the seat.

Michael Vohar, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Vohar of Price St. Ext., received a sprain of the right ankle in jumping from a small bridge.

Bambi Lynn Hays, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hays, 1636 Globe St., was treated for a puncture wound of the right foot after she stepped on a nail at home.

Girl Injured Slightly When Struck By Car

A 9-year-old girl escaped with minor injuries when bumped by an auto Thursday at 5:20 p. m. on Walnut St. near E. 6th St., police reported.

Darla Koch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Koch, 1036 Huston Ave., was treated at City Hospital for slight abrasions of the back after she ran into the path of a 1960 sedan driven by Ginger Ella Hile, 26, of 1260 Erie St., officers said.

The woman motorist said she had just passed the intersection of Walnut and E. 6th Sts. when the girl ran into the street in front of the car and was knocked down. The driver took the child to the hospital, officers said.

Car Goes Over Hill After Driver Gets Out

A Columbiana County woman escaped serious injury but her husband's new auto was damaged badly in a mishap on the Chester Hill early Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Luree Lippincott, 49, of East Rochester R. D. 1 was driving west on Route 30 when she applied the brakes and skidded on the rain-slicked highway.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies in New Cumberland said the 1961 model Chevrolet Impala crashed into a utility pole, then drifted over an embankment after the woman got out.

The auto came to rest against a garage of Sanford Harvey of Route 30, near the Laurel Hill Motel.

Deputies said the auto, owned by her husband, James, received about $1,500 damage. Mrs. Lippincott suffered a cut of the forehead. The sheriff's office logged the mishap at 12:05 p. m.

City Driver Escapes Injury In Car Crash

A city man escaped injury when his car veered from a township road near Cannons Mills Thursday and struck a tree, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Officers said Walter Clapsaddle, 2704 St. Clair Ave., was driving a 1955 coach south on Harmon Rd., about a half mile south of Route 30, when the car went off the road, down a slight embankment and hit a tree.

Motorist In Hancock Gets Fine, Jail Term

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mike Hatala, 39, of R. D. 1 was fined $100 and costs or 30 days in Hancock County Jail at a hearing Thursday before Squire John D. Herron on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Hatala was cited Wednesday by the office of County Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny.

In other hearings, Terry Estel, 17, of Aliquippa was fined $5 and costs on a sheriff's office charge of failing to dim his lights for an approaching vehicle, and John R. Walker, 22, Colliers $10 and costs for driving with an expired inspection sticker. Walker was cited by West Virginia State Police.

Ohio Crop-Dusting Pilot Dies In Crash

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A crop-dusting pilot from Medina, Ohio, perished Wednesday when his plane crashed into a slough near here. He was Dale W. Loomis 25, who died en route to a hospital.

Joe Adams, who was driving a tractor near the crash scene, said he saw the plane apparently coming in for a forced landing, and its motor appeared to be off. The plane had been spreading weed killer in a nearby field.

Chemicals Burn 3 Of Road Crew

Three area men at work on the freeway project along Carpenters Run suffered skin irritations from an undetermined chemical or substance in the run waters Thursday, and were treated at City Hospital.

John Railing, 34, of Wellsville, suffered chemical burns of the right side of the face and wrists. Gene Rose, 30, of the Cannons Mills-Calcutta Rd. received similar burns of the left hand, and Dorsey Marple, 32, of Wellsville R. D. 1 had burns of the neck and face.

All are laborers for the Baker & Hickey Co., contractor for the project, and were at the creek helping to install large sewer pipe sections.

A spokesman of the firm said today the cause of the burns has not been determined, and work has been suspended at the site temporarily.

Man Remains In Jail In Tavern Death Case

Homer Richard (Sonny) Williams, 21, of 607 Florida Ave., Chester, remains in City Jail today, unable to raise $5,000 bond to regain his freedom pending a preliminary hearing Tuesday in connection with the death of a former East Liverpool man whom he allegedly struck in a Dresden Ave. tavern early Sunday.

Williams faces a first degree manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Wilbert Willard Jr., 34, of Tampa, who died of a cranial hemorrhage and a dislocated neck. Williams is accused of striking him while in the Green Mill Tavern.

Williams' bond was set Monday morning by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who will conduct the preliminary hearing. He was granted a continuance until next Tuesday because his counsel, Atty. George A. Aronson, was appearing for the defense in a murder trial in Lisbon this week.

Women's Unit Hears Discussion On Wills

The importance of wills was emphasized by Atty. Donald Donell of Weirton at a lesson leader training meeting of the Hancock County Farm Women's Council Thursday in the Agricultural Extension Office in New Cumberland.

He is assistant county prosecutor. Three clubs were represented, including Elwood, Rhododendron and Asbury. Mrs. Ruth McPherson, 4-H Club agent, and Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, also were present.

Weirton Man Cited

NEW CUMBERLAND — Albert L. Monseau of Weirton was cited on a charge of failure to have his auto under control after he crashed into the rear of a truck of John L. Parr of Middlebourne Thursday at 3:15 p. m. on Ridge Ave. Both vehicles were traveling north, Police Chief William Webster reported. Monseau is scheduled for a hearing Monday night at 7:30 before Mayor Albert Fuccy.

Former Police Chief Appeals Dismissal

EAST PALESTINE — C. Richard Lotze Thursday filed a formal notice of appeal with the Civil Service Commission concerning removal from his post of police chief by Mayor Robert Harding last week.

Lotze earlier this week filed an explanation of his stand with Mayor Harding, who relayed it to the Civil Service Commission without action.

The mayor issued an order of permanent suspension to Lotze, on the force five years and chief for three years, listing nine charges ranging from insubordination to improper conduct.

E. C. Milliken, chairman of the commission, said the board will meet next week to set a date for a formal hearing on Lotze's appeal. He is represented by Atty. D. Barry Dickson.

GAS AIR CONDITIONING

Nearly everyone heats with GAS, and when they learn the facts about GAS air conditioning, they want it. They're pleasantly surprised to find how little it costs.

GAS provides year-round, total comfort using a central heating and cooling system controlled through one thermostat. In the summer you sleep better, cook and bake in a cool kitchen, enjoy your home more than ever. Then in winter, with the turn of a dial, your home is kept warm and snug with fresh air, GAS heat. You get all of this from the same GAS heating-cooling system. Why settle for less?

The installation cost of a central GAS heating-cooling system in a new home can be financed with the mortgage for a very modest increase in payments.

If you are planning to remodel, figure on adding a GAS air conditioning unit to your present forced air heating system. You can probably use the existing heating ductwork. You can finance the whole job through the gas company; pay for it with your gas bill.

If you plan to build or buy a new home or to remodel your present home, find out about GAS air conditioning. You'll want it! Call the Gas Company for full information.

Tobin Says No New Revenue Needed For Juvenile Camp

No new revenue would be required for construction of a proposed juvenile work camp, Probate Judge Louis Tobin said today in response to a statement from Columbiana County Commissioner Walter Hunston that a bond issue would be required.

Judge Tobin earlier this week said he had dropped plans for the youth camp, despite backing by some 65 organizations in the county, because Commissioner Hunston had "wrecked" the proposal.

Hunston counetred that he had made no public stand on the issue.

Judge Tobin said in an answering statement:

"There is no desire on my part to engage in a protracted controversy on the Youth Camp matter in the newspapers. However, there is one thing I would like to point out as a reply to Mr. Hunston.

"In 1956, the Fairmount Children's Home was sold and this county received $50,000 as its share. This money has now all been paid in. As of today, the auditor informs me there is $39,078.21 in this fund and $10,921.61 has been spent very properly and wisely in the Kyes Children's Receiving Home in East Palestine.

"The Revised Code (Sec. 5705.10) states; 'If a permanent improvement of a subdivision is sold, the amount received shall be paid into a sinking fund, the bond retirement or into a special fund for the construction or acquisition of permanent improvements.'

"It further goes on to say 'money paid into any fund shall be used only for the purposes for which the fund was established.' The Fairmount Children's Home money, I am told, was placed in a fund for permanent improvement. That is why some of it was used, very properly, on the Kyes Children's Receiving Home.

"I believe Mr. Hunston knows, or should have known, that this money is available for a permanent structure such as this camp, without the necessity of new monies as far as construction is concerned.

"Since the money was received from the children's home sale, it would seem to me to be very propert to expend it on a permanent improvement to help children who clearly need help."

what's new at Olsen's?

"Ollie Olsen"

Fashion prediction . . . chic days ahead . . . ! Whether dress up or play-time fashions, you will find all the newest at Olsen's. Wonder fabrics . . . no bother dacron . . . nylon ribbonettes . . . arnels and all the new blends that will make yours a carefree summer.

How would you ladies who wear half-size dresses like to find one that fits just perfectly . . . no costly alterations at waistline or hem. We discovered a whole rack of these dresses at Olsen's today. Here's the answer to those fitting problems. "Korell" is the name . . . fashioned with narrow shoulders, higher waistlines and length scaled accurately to your height. Styled for greater flattery, sized for better fit. Designed to greet summer with a fresh and pretty youthfulness that is most appropriate to you and your way of life.

There's so many different styles to choose from, voilles, dacrons, jerseys, and eyelets. All summery confections as lucious and refreshing as you will ever see at these prices. From 10.98 to 17.98, in sizes 12 plus to 24 plus. Take a vacation from an unruly wardrobe uncomplicated fashions that are beautiful to behold and behave without a wrinkle.

Speaking of cool confections, there's another dress at Olsen's that is colorful and refreshing as a spring rainbow. Designed by "Carol Marks" for the Missy figure. Sizes 10 to 18. It is fashioned of the newest miracle fabric, "T-62" — 100% dacron polyester. Looks like pure silk and feels like pure silk. Rainbow hued stripes of lilac, maize, turquoise, and rose, all blending together to make the most eye catching dress we've seen in a long time. The bodice has a bateau neck and the stripes are stitched all the way to the waistline. The skirt is pleated in such an unusual way for style and comfort. Truly a distinctive dress and priced at only 16.79.

We can always find something new in Olsen's accessory department. We were delighted with the new wicker handbags we found today. They have all the charm of natural wicker plus the practical aspects of a waterproof, split resisting plastic coating. Their contour shapes are so new and exciting. There's a smart looking oval basket featuring a Texan straw rope handle with a leather cover. Then, there's an oversized mail pouch type straw. There will always be room for one more of milady's personal items in this bag. It is simply huge, yet a bag you can carry with all your summer dresses. There are dozens more in straw or wicker. You're sure to find one to please you and the price is really amazing, just 2.88 up.

Remember Olsen's are open every night until nine for your shopping pleasure. That's all today, see you next Friday.

Kennedy's present back trouble is described medically as a lumbosacral strain. The White House says it is unrelated to his previous serious back problems.

Dr. Travell thinks it will remedy itself rapidly with proper treatment, including rest and swimming in warm water.

Dr. Travell described the resultant pain as "a kind of constant discomfort or something like a steady toothache." But Kennedy had kept the injury from his staff, except for his physician.

Kennedy plans to remain here until late Sunday, resting and swimming. Golf has been ruled out.

U.S. Won't Surrender Asia Without Fight, 'VP' Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the United States will not surrender the free people of Asia to communism "without putting up a fight."

He said it was his judgment that "freedom in Asia is worth fighting for" and that the American people, once they understand the tremendous stakes, "are ready to follow the path that means freedom—not just for Asians, but for ourselves as well."

In an address prepared for delivery before a conference of United Press International editors, the vice president declared:

"The front line of freedom lies today in nations like Viet Nam, Thailand and Pakistan. It is our obligation to ourselves and to our descendants to so conduct ourselves that those lines will not be breached or pushed back."

Communism, the vice president declared, "is not riding a tide of inevitability in Asia," and "it can be stopped in its tracks."

"Simple arithmetic and common horse sense dictate that we take the necessary steps to maintain the freedom of nations that have not fallen under the Communist yoke," Johnson said. He added:

"The Communists are hoping we will surrender these people without putting up a fight. And I am here today to tell you—as I told the leaders of the countries that I visited—that we are not going to do it.

"We are not going to pull back to Honolulu and San Francisco to await the inevitable Communist assault that would follow such a tremendous victory. These are not idle words."

Rhodes Reports Ohio Operating 99 Million In Red

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A report issued by State Auditor James A. Rhodes Wednesday said over-all fiscal operations of the state during the 11 months ended May 31 showed Ohio operating "in the red" by $98,922,160.

Rhodes said that with a single month remaining in the fiscal year, total expenditures were $1,500,648,913, while revenues amounted to $1,401,726,753.

May statistics in Rhodes' report show expenditures of $144,002,606, or $29,570,555 in excess of receipts of $114,431,051.

The auditor attributed the decline in revenues, in part, to the fact that last year the issuance of major thoroughfare and capital improvement bonds totaling $61 million exceeded by $46 million the issuance of similar obligations this year, exclusive of the recent offerings of $32 million in highway bonds.

U.S. Won't Surrender Asia Without Fight, 'VP' Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the United States will not surrender the free people of Asia to communism "without putting up a fight."

He said it was his judgment that "freedom in Asia is worth fighting for" and that the American people, once they understand the tremendous stakes, "are ready to follow the path that means freedom—not just for Asians, but for ourselves as well."

In an address prepared for delivery before a conference of United Press International editors, the vice president declared:

"The front line of freedom lies today in nations like Viet Nam, Thailand and Pakistan. It is our obligation to ourselves and to our descendants to so conduct ourselves that those lines will not be breached or pushed back."

Communism, the vice president declared, "is not riding a tide of inevitability in Asia," and "it can be stopped in its tracks."

"Simple arithmetic and common horse sense dictate that we take the necessary steps to maintain the freedom of nations that have not fallen under the Communist yoke," Johnson said. He added:

"The Communists are hoping we will surrender these people without putting up a fight. And I am here today to tell you—as I told the leaders of the countries that I visited—that we are not going to do it.

"We are not going to pull back to Honolulu and San Francisco to await the inevitable Communist assault that would follow such a tremendous victory. These are not idle words."

Rhodes Reports Ohio Operating 99 Million In Red

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A report issued by State Auditor James A. Rhodes Wednesday said over-all fiscal operations of the state during the 11 months ended May 31 showed Ohio operating "in the red" by $98,922,160.

Rhodes said that with a single month remaining in the fiscal year, total expenditures were $1,500,648,913, while revenues amounted to $1,401,726,753.

May statistics in Rhodes' report show expenditures of $144,002,606, or $29,570,555 in excess of receipts of $114,431,051.

The auditor attributed the decline in revenues, in part, to the fact that last year the issuance of major thoroughfare and capital improvement bonds totaling $61 million exceeded by $46 million the issuance of similar obligations this year, exclusive of the recent offerings of $32 million in highway bonds.

Miss Jane Rose Becomes Bride Of Robert Spratley

MRS. ROBERT SPRATLEY
Bride Of Church Nuptials.

Miss Jane Ann Rose wore a queen's crown of pearls when she became the bride of Robert Spratley last Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rose, 252 Center St., and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Spratley, 807 McKinnon Ave.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of silk organza. The Basque bodice was styled with bracelet-length sleeves and satin scroll applique outlining the circlet neckline. Matching appliques adorned the front of the bouffant skirt and self bows marked the back.

A fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to her crown. She carried a white prayer book topped with an arrangement of white orchids and satin streamers. All the traditions were observed.

Miss Mary Lou Malone was maid of honor and Mrs. Bonnie Matheny and Miss Becky Allison were bridesmaids. They wore identical, ballerina - length gowns of poudre blue taffeta, designed with scoop necklines and pouff overskirts.

Their matching Dior bows held theater veils. They carried Colonial bouquets of white carnations with the bridesmaid's arrangements featuring blue center tips. Gifts from the bride were single-strand pearls with matching earrings.

Airman Fred Fischer of New Jersey was best man. Jerry Adams and Glenn McGaffic were ushers. They received wallets from the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a Navy ensemble with white accessories and a red rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige lace sheath with matching accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception for 200 was held in the Parish Hall. St. Stephen's Guild, with Mrs. Maxine Burch as chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

The buffet table was centered with a wedding cake and lighted tapers. A pink and white theme was also used on the bride's table, which was highlighted with flowers.

The newlyweds will reside on W. 8th St.

Four tables were in play for the Women's Bridge Group Wednesday at the Country Club.

Prize winners were Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. Don Schreckengost.

The group will play again next Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Jane Rose Becomes Bride Of Robert Spratley

MRS. ROBERT SPRATLEY
Bride Of Church Nuptials.

Miss Jane Ann Rose wore a queen's crown of pearls when she became the bride of Robert Spratley last Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rose, 252 Center St., and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Spratley, 807 McKinnon Ave.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of silk organza. The Basque bodice was styled with bracelet-length sleeves and satin scroll applique outlining the circlet neckline. Matching appliques adorned the front of the bouffant skirt and self bows marked the back.

A fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to her crown. She carried a white prayer book topped with an arrangement of white orchids and satin streamers. All the traditions were observed.

Miss Mary Lou Malone was maid of honor and Mrs. Bonnie Matheny and Miss Becky Allison were bridesmaids. They wore identical, ballerina - length gowns of poudre blue taffeta, designed with scoop necklines and pouff overskirts.

Their matching Dior bows held theater veils. They carried Colonial bouquets of white carnations with the bridesmaid's arrangements featuring blue center tips. Gifts from the bride were single-strand pearls with matching earrings.

Airman Fred Fischer of New Jersey was best man. Jerry Adams and Glenn McGaffic were ushers. They received wallets from the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a Navy ensemble with white accessories and a red rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige lace sheath with matching accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception for 200 was held in the Parish Hall. St. Stephen's Guild, with Mrs. Maxine Burch as chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

The buffet table was centered with a wedding cake and lighted tapers. A pink and white theme was also used on the bride's table, which was highlighted with flowers.

The newlyweds will reside on W. 8th St.

Four tables were in play for the Women's Bridge Group Wednesday at the Country Club.

Prize winners were Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. Don Schreckengost.

The group will play again next Wednesday afternoon.

How to add years to your life

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years. Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years.

How about you?

100

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years. Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years.

How about you?

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Shouldn't Yield To Tears

You may have seen the child, even as old as eight or ten, who can suddenly make tears roll down his or her cheeks with a purpose; or a youngster, from three to six, who howls or screams to win his way. Either type of youngster, so attaining his goal, has discovered that his parents, or others who let him do so, try to escape the discomfort of seeing or hearing him cry. The more this youngster moves the feelings of the adult the more surely he wins. From Kansas, a mother of a child, six writes:

Dr. Garry Meyers

"Excessive tears are our most pressing problem.

"THOUGH SHE cried only once at school all last semester, my daughter frequently cries when I'm involved; still more when her grandmother is present. She cried and carried on for ten minutes when she made an error in reciting dance-school verse and was corrected by me.

"In the dental chair she cried and acted up violently till we left for home, when she stopped crying immediately.

"There is a younger brother, two years old."

My reply in part:

It is apparent that this child cries because she supposes that you and her grandmother feel sorry for her, or will reward her in some way to keep her from crying. Also she probably feels you pay more attention to her younger brother. It's very significant she doesn't cry at school.

Do try to make this girl feel more secure and worthwhile in the family. Help her cultivate playmates of her own age, and her brother playmates of his own age, too.

SEE THAT HE respects her rights and ownership and minds his own business when her friends come to the house.

Let her go to bed half an hour later than her brother. Then you and Dad can read to her, talk companionably with her and have fun with her, thus helping her to see you recognize her seniority.

Don't let yourself be hurt or annoyed by her crying. Be more matter-of-fact, less soft-hearted. Make sure her tears don't win for her her way. Sometimes when she obviously is crying just to work on your feelings, walk away coldly or send her to another room.

My bulletins, "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy," "When the Child Cries," and "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Widow Files Suit In Husband's Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The widow of Frank Korosa of Akron, who drowned accidentally in Cleveland two years ago after attending a baseball game in Municipal Stadium, has filed a $150,000 negligence suit.

She claims negligence by the City of Cleveland, the Allenside Athletic Club, Inc., of Akron, and the Manchester & Canal Fulton Bus Line, Inc., of Clinton, all contributed to the death of her husband. She alleges he fell off a pier after tripping over a beam placed at the end of the pier to brace the wheels of the bus.

Man Hears Death Decree For Murder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert H. Griffin, 42 - year-old unemployed truck driver who killed two women with shotgun blasts last September, Thursday was sentenced to die in the electric chair for one of the murders.

Common Pleas Judge J. J. P. Corrigan read the death decree and Griffin, showing no emotion, had nothing to say. A jury last Friday convicted him of first-degree murder in the death of his former girl friend, Mary Lee Williams, 32. She was shot by Griffin a short time after he fatally wounded her friend, Mrs. Mattie Benjamin.

Father Of 9 Kills Self With Dynamite

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — An unemployed father of nine children strapped dynamite around his waist and blew himself to bits Thursday night.

A neighbor, Al Nelson, said: "I heard something that sounded like a rifle shot. Then I saw smoke and went outside and it was a bloody mess."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Tightens Reducing Slack

That favorite expression, "I have nothing fit to wear," quite likely means you've gained a pound or three. However, it's not so much a matter of poundage as it is flabbiness. When muscles go soft at the boundary lines, the middle spread takes over—and nothing fits.

Ida Jean Kain

Exercise will take up the sag. In effect, well - designed exercise may give you a whole new wardrobe—you're back in style. To restore the clearly-defined line of your figure, tone the lateral muscles that bound the sides of the silhouette from the armpit to below the hipbone.

These lateral muscles constitute one of the body's 'dead' areas, muscularly speaking. Every day body movements seldom bring these muscles into action. What's needed is more sideward-bending.

EXERCISING to music can be as scientifically accurate as stretching - and - bending to count and it's a lot more fun. Not only does music give a lift, but it takes the stiffness out of gymnastics.

Exercising to music is so freeing, it helps you to feel graceful. So move to music—it's almost like dancing.

Arch arms overhead, ballerina-style. Let the upstretch be through the entire torso. Keep shoulders down and completely relaxed. Slowly and smoothly bend to the left, pulling slim all along the right boundary line of the figure.

Stretch up, bend to the side, and reach with the fingers of right hand — hold. Holding the stretch-bend helps to increase tone. Hold to a slow count of six, breathing freely. Release slowly and repeat six or eight times. Always hold at the peak of the stretch. Then bend to the right and again stretch, bend, reach—and hold.

To slim the waist, tone the side-front muscles, the obliques. Wrapping the sides of the silhouette as they do, these muscles when toned tend to cinch in the waistline as well as flatten the front line. The following exercise is most effective.

NOW STRIKE up the band? Finish with the high-stepping routine of the drum majorette. As you lift right knee high, reach for the ceiling with both arms. Lower arms as you step forward. Reach high again as you briskly bend left knee toward chest. Step across your living room and back.

At the finish of this simple routine, you'll feel slimmer. In two weeks, when summer simmers in, you'll be slimmer.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Wake Up And Stretch." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

3 Motorists Fined; 4 Forfeit Hearings

LISBON — Three motorists were fined at hearings Thursday before County Judge James L. MacDonald and four forfeited appearance bonds.

Ivan R. Dye, 23, of Bergholz paid $10 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a valid license, and James S. Rhodes, 31, of Poland and Jerald L. Parker, 20, of East Palestine $5 each for speeding.

Alma C. Lewis, 62, of Toronto, Robert T. Woolman, 30, of Berlin Center, John Zamboria, 48, of Warren and Michael J. Wancheck, 47, of Cleveland forfeited $15 each. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

12 Attend Firemen's Class On Pump Use

About 12 attended a pump training session of Glenmoor volunteer firemen and Civil Defense firemen Thursday night at the Glenmoor fire station.

The CD fire team, formerly with the 31st Mobile Support Group, which has been de-activated, will train with the Glenmoor unit in the future. Leonard Congrove, Glenmoor assistant fire chief, and Herman Heiney, CD fire chief, were in charge.

A fire training class will be held Tuesday night at 7.

Non-Existent Road Is Ordered Vacated

The plat was dedicated in 1955 with the road laid out but it was never built and the township trustees and owners of the land abutting the road asked to have it vacated. There was no opposition.

The commissioners will meet Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

17 Units To Parade At Lawrenceville

About 17 units are expected to take part in a parade Saturday night at 7 at Lawrenceville, marking the last night program of the annual volunteer firemen's fair which began Tuesday.

The event features concessions and amusement rides by the Heck Amusement Co. Proceeds are used for fire equipment.

Named To Soil Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has appointed Fairfield County farmer Donald Leith to the Ohio Soil Conservation Committee for a term ending June 30, 1965. Leith, of Pleasantville, succeeds Francis R. Hothem of Fresno, Coshocton County.

City Schedules Probe Into Refuse Dumping

Health Board sanitary inspectors have been asked to make an investigation of complaints that garbage and trash are being dumped into the East End Run by persons who live near the meandering little stream, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and the Health Board said today in a joint announcement.

The mayor said both he and the board have received repeated complaints of the dumping. The initial investigation disclosed that some of the householders residing near the run do not take advantage of the city's free garbage and trash collection service — apparently dumping the refuse into the stream, he said.

The Health Board's inspectors have promised an investigation and meanwhile issued a warning that dumping refuse in the stream could lead to criminal charges and a fine.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO —Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high in low 80s, normal low in low 60s. Only minor day-to - day temperature changes through Wednesday. Precipitation will average about one inch in scattered thundershowers tonight, Sunday and Monday, but with some threat of showers each day.

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average 2-4 degrees below normal with only minor changes from day to day. Normal high 75-80, normal low 54-60. Precipitation will average one-half to three-quarters inch in scattered showers the first part of the week.

The Bedouin tribes, which have roamed the Negev since before the days of Abraham and Isaac, have squatters' rights to a 275,000-acre reservation there.

Serves On Carrier

LISBON — Fireman Gary A. Messenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alten H. Messenger of R. D. 1, is serving aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga now undergoing repairs at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard at Portsmouth, Va. The carrier has returned from a six-month cruise with the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Let her go to bed half an hour later than her brother. Then you and Dad can read to her, talk companionably with her and have fun with her, thus helping her to see you recognize her seniority.

Don't let yourself be hurt or annoyed by her crying. Be more matter-of-fact, less soft-hearted. Make sure her tears don't win for her her way. Sometimes when she obviously is crying just to work on your feelings, walk away coldly or send her to another room.

Widow Files Suit In Husband's Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The widow of Frank Korosa of Akron, who drowned accidentally in Cleveland two years ago after attending a baseball game in Municipal Stadium, has filed a $150,000 negligence suit.

She claims negligence by the City of Cleveland, the Allenside Athletic Club, Inc., of Akron, and the Manchester & Canal Fulton Bus Line, Inc., of Clinton, all contributed to the death of her husband. She alleges he fell off a pier after tripping over a beam placed at the end of the pier to brace the wheels of the bus.

Man Hears Death Decree For Murder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert H. Griffin, 42 - year-old unemployed truck driver who killed two women with shotgun blasts last September, Thursday was sentenced to die in the electric chair for one of the murders.

Common Pleas Judge J. J. P. Corrigan read the death decree and Griffin, showing no emotion, had nothing to say. A jury last Friday convicted him of first-degree murder in the death of his former girl friend, Mary Lee Williams, 32. She was shot by Griffin a short time after he fatally wounded her friend, Mrs. Mattie Benjamin.

Father Of 9 Kills Self With Dynamite

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — An unemployed father of nine children strapped dynamite around his waist and blew himself to bits Thursday night.

A neighbor, Al Nelson, said: "I heard something that sounded like a rifle shot. Then I saw smoke and went outside and it was a bloody mess."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Tightens Reducing Slack

That favorite expression, "I have nothing fit to wear," quite likely means you've gained a pound or three. However, it's not so much a matter of poundage as it is flabbiness. When muscles go soft at the boundary lines, the middle spread takes over—and nothing fits.

Ida Jean Kain

Exercise will take up the sag. In effect, well - designed exercise may give you a whole new wardrobe—you're back in style. To restore the clearly-defined line of your figure, tone the lateral muscles that bound the sides of the silhouette from the armpit to below the hipbone.

These lateral muscles constitute one of the body's 'dead' areas, muscularly speaking. Every day body movements seldom bring these muscles into action. What's needed is more sideward-bending.

EXERCISING to music can be as scientifically accurate as stretching - and - bending to count and it's a lot more fun. Not only does music give a lift, but it takes the stiffness out of gymnastics.

Exercising to music is so freeing, it helps you to feel graceful. So move to music—it's almost like dancing.

Arch arms overhead, ballerina-style. Let the upstretch be through the entire torso. Keep shoulders down and completely relaxed. Slowly and smoothly bend to the left, pulling slim all along the right boundary line of the figure.

Stretch up, bend to the side, and reach with the fingers of right hand — hold. Holding the stretch-bend helps to increase tone. Hold to a slow count of six, breathing freely. Release slowly and repeat six or eight times. Always hold at the peak of the stretch. Then bend to the right and again stretch, bend, reach—and hold.

To slim the waist, tone the side-front muscles, the obliques. Wrapping the sides of the silhouette as they do, these muscles when toned tend to cinch in the waistline as well as flatten the front line. The following exercise is most effective.

NOW STRIKE up the band? Finish with the high-stepping routine of the drum majorette. As you lift right knee high, reach for the ceiling with both arms. Lower arms as you step forward. Reach high again as you briskly bend left knee toward chest. Step across your living room and back.

At the finish of this simple routine, you'll feel slimmer. In two weeks, when summer simmers in, you'll be slimmer.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Wake Up And Stretch." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

3 Motorists Fined; 4 Forfeit Hearings

LISBON — Three motorists were fined at hearings Thursday before County Judge James L. MacDonald and four forfeited appearance bonds.

Ivan R. Dye, 23, of Bergholz paid $10 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a valid license, and James S. Rhodes, 31, of Poland and Jerald L. Parker, 20, of East Palestine $5 each for speeding.

Alma C. Lewis, 62, of Toronto, Robert T. Woolman, 30, of Berlin Center, John Zamboria, 48, of Warren and Michael J. Wancheck, 47, of Cleveland forfeited $15 each. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

12 Attend Firemen's Class On Pump Use

About 12 attended a pump training session of Glenmoor volunteer firemen and Civil Defense firemen Thursday night at the Glenmoor fire station.

The CD fire team, formerly with the 31st Mobile Support Group, which has been de-activated, will train with the Glenmoor unit in the future. Leonard Congrove, Glenmoor assistant fire chief, and Herman Heiney, CD fire chief, were in charge.

A fire training class will be held Tuesday night at 7.

Non-Existent Road Is Ordered Vacated

The plat was dedicated in 1955 with the road laid out but it was never built and the township trustees and owners of the land abutting the road asked to have it vacated. There was no opposition.

The commissioners will meet Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

17 Units To Parade At Lawrenceville

About 17 units are expected to take part in a parade Saturday night at 7 at Lawrenceville, marking the last night program of the annual volunteer firemen's fair which began Tuesday.

The event features concessions and amusement rides by the Heck Amusement Co. Proceeds are used for fire equipment.

Named To Soil Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has appointed Fairfield County farmer Donald Leith to the Ohio Soil Conservation Committee for a term ending June 30, 1965. Leith, of Pleasantville, succeeds Francis R. Hothem of Fresno, Coshocton County.

City Schedules Probe Into Refuse Dumping

Health Board sanitary inspectors have been asked to make an investigation of complaints that garbage and trash are being dumped into the East End Run by persons who live near the meandering little stream, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and the Health Board said today in a joint announcement.

The mayor said both he and the board have received repeated complaints of the dumping. The initial investigation disclosed that some of the householders residing near the run do not take advantage of the city's free garbage and trash collection service — apparently dumping the refuse into the stream, he said.

The Health Board's inspectors have promised an investigation and meanwhile issued a warning that dumping refuse in the stream could lead to criminal charges and a fine.

The World Faces 'The Last Shoot-Out'

Hal Humphrey

Do we Americans realize what a brainwashing we've taken from Hollywood's TV Westerns? Most of us have seen so many long, lean cowboys solve their problems with a six-gun that we've got ourselves believing one big shoot-out is the solution for every problem — provided, of course, that we get the drop on our opponent.

Even the usually erudite CBS correspondent Eric Sevareid slipped into some Old West vernacular when reporting on President Kennedy's trip to Vienna last week.

"The President," said Sevareid, "has one bullet in the chamber, still covering Berlin, but by no means is all of his powder dry."

HOW MANY OF US could just see Kid Kennedy walking stealthily down Vienna's main drag toward Bart Khrushchev? Neither man makes a move for his gun, but as they close in and eye each other carefully, the following conversation ensues:

KID KENNEDY: You lookin' for trouble?

BART K.: Maybe—and what're you gonna do about it?

KID KENNEDY: I never said I was lookin' for trouble.

BART K.: You tryin' to say I'm the troublemaker?

KID KENNEDY: I'm just sayin' a man does what he has to do. Now get outta Vienna.

BART K.: I'm goin', but there are other towns — Paris, Berlin, Montgomery — and if I get there first, next time, watch out!

THIS KIND of thing might be a smash on the TV screens for 39 weeks, especially with those stars. But the shoot-out, or smile-when-you-say-that technique, is obsolete for settling world frictions.

Saner thinkers now believe there are better ways of getting rid of brother Castro than that ill-fated popgun shoot-out we tried. Who can deny, however, that the men who conceived the Cuban invasion were at least subconsciously mesmerized by the idea of Big Uncle Sam's outdrawing Black Fidel?

DR. EDWARD TELLER, who sometimes is fondly referred to as "the father of the H-bomb," appeared on a TV panel in San Francisco recently. Frequently he referred to A-bombs and H-bombs as defensive weapons (when in our hands). Several things he said during the 90 minutes indicated that he felt we were headed for the big shoot-out.

The impact of Gary Cooper's death on this country also, to some extent, epitomized the kind of hero we worship. Cooper symbolized the stern, kindly loner ready to fight against any odds to preserve justice and his dignity as a man. All of the Cooper obituaries likened him to the hero he played in the 1945 movie, "High Noon."

There is nothing wrong with this except that a nuclear fission society of nations of varying development cannot be compared to the black-and-white heroes of "High Noon" or "Gunsmoke," even though it seems to make life much simpler.

IT'S IMPORTANT today to realize that these Western sagas we watch on TV now are fairy tales, and then explain to our kids why this is true. The frontier of the Old West and the frontiers of space and atomic radiation are not the same.

Alan Shepard went to great pains and effort after his Mercury space flight to dissuade any of us from thinking that he had done it alone. He insisted that the other six astronauts accompany him to that Washington press conference and medal ceremony of President Kennedy's.

Shepard wanted no one to get the idea that he was a lone cowboy riding a capsule into the horizon.

Why? Because he knows that's passe thinking. It's escapism only. Nothing is likely to stop Hollywood's producers from grinding out more Westerns (unless it's the final shoot-out), but we should remember as we watch them on TV that they are just something to entertain us — not a way of life.

Kind Reports Vote Expense

William T. Kind spent $153 in his unsuccessful bid for the Republican mayoralty nomination in the May 2 municipal primaries, it was shown today in a sworn statement of campaign expenditures on file with the County Election Board.

Kind was one of three East Liverpool aspirants to file the reports. Unsuccessful Democratic candidates filed the others.

Councilman Robert B. Laughlin, who lost a bid for renomination to a second term in the Fourth Ward, reported expenses of $6.70. Charles W. McCoy, unsuccessful in a bid for the Third Ward Council nomination, listed expenses of $13.39.

Two Wellsville candidates filed the reports. Charles W. Stoddard, GOP candidate for councilman-at-large, listed expenses of $28.92. Elmer A. Daniels, a Democratic candidate for the First Ward Council nomination, said he spent $9.

Two Salem candidates also filed reports. Donald C. Cannon, a Republican aspirant for the Second Ward Council seat, reported he had no expenses. Paul M. Howard, Democratic candidate for a Council-at-large seat, also reported no expenses.

The deadline for the reports is a week away — June 16 at 4 p. m. They are required under the "corrupt practices act," which puts a ceiling on campaign expenses. State law says they must be filed by all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and by committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Cooper bequeated the bulk of his estate, valued in excess of $1 million, to his widow Veronica. The actor also made provision for lifetime care for his mother.

The screen star died of cancer May 13. His will, filed for probate Thursday, made these other bequests:

Ten thousand dollars to the Motion Picture Relief Fund; $5,000 each to a brother, Arthur, of Indio, Calif., a nephew, Howard Cooper, and a niece, Georgia Burton of Marion, Ohio; and $1,000 to Our Lady of Gethsemane Abbey, Louisville, Ky.

Miami U. To Lower Racial Bars June 15

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Racial bars will be lowered for the first time at the University of Miami in the summer session starting June 15.

Dr. Paul K. Vonk, chairman of the Admissions Committee, said no records had been kept of the number of Negroes to be admitted.

"There was no quota, and we had no reason to count them," he said. "All applications are accepted or rejected on their merits."

Floral Society Plans Spraying Discussion

A brief discussion on how to spray and dust flowers and gardens will feature the meeting of the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Riverview Greenhouse.

Plants, tubers and annuals will be available for those who could not attend the annual dahlia tuber and perennial auction in May. A scenic movie on Oregon will be screened by Frank Richmond.

15 To Receive OSU Degrees

Dr. David Kinsey of Columbus, former city resident, and 14 other Columbiana County men and women are slated to receive degrees at spring commencement at Ohio State University at Columbus today.

Dr. Kinsey is to get a master of science degree in medicine.

Bruce J. Donaldson of East Liverpool will be awarded a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering.

Other recipients include Donald G. Kelch of Lisbon, bachelor degree in agriculture and doctor of veterinary science; William E. Brown of Salineville, bachelor of industrial engineering.

Thomas D. Meek of East Palestine, doctor of medicine; David H. Wilson of Negley, bachelor of science in physics; Lanny Hoffman of Homeworth, master of science; Hubert K. Keylor of Columbiana, doctor of medicine, and Samuel N. Douglass of Columbiana, bachelor degree in education.

Salem residents include John Ference, fine arts; Marcia Fitzpatrick, education; Mary Mercer, arts and education; Gunhild Nyberg, physical therapy; Marilyn Schaefer, nursing, and Wayne Slosser, electrical engineering.

Won't Run Against Dirksen, Perry Says

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles H. Percy, industrialist and Republican leader, says he will not oppose Sen. Everett M. Dirksen in the Illinois Republican primary next spring.

Percy, chairman of the 1960 Republican Platform Committee, told a group of business leaders Thursday, "I do not want to cause any rupture within the party." Percy, 41, had been mentioned as a possible senatorial candidate.

Dirksen, who is 65 and is serving his second Senate term, has not officially announced his candidacy, but it is believed he will seek re-election. He served eight consecutive terms in the House of Representatives from 1933-1948. He did not seek re-election but was elected to the Senate in 1950.

Here's An Educator With Heavy Problem

The streamlined 6-4 administrator just completed a two-month diet which pared away 34 pounds. He dropped from 241 to 207.

Wednesday, the proud Noble celebrated by enjoying a pancake supper at a Kiwanis Club fund-raising affair.

Educator Killed

DEWITT, Iowa (AP) — Dr. W. Vaughn Lewis, 54, of Cambridge University in England and a visiting professor of geography at the University of Chicago, was killed Thursday in a car-semitrailer truck collision.

Mrs. Kennedy's Vacation Yacht Runs Rough Seas

POROS, Greece (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy's vacation yacht rode out rough seas and a 30-mile wind Thursday night before anchoring in the sheltered harbor of the picturesque Greek island port of Poros.

Although the night sky was clear and beautiful, the yacht North Wind on which Mrs. Kennedy is visiting the Aegean Islands was buffeted as it crossed the Strait of Methanon after the First Lady's call at Epidaurus.

This morning the sun was brilliant, and Mrs. Kennedy was expected to go ashore for her second day of island sightseeing.

Mrs. Kennedy is vacationing aboard the yacht of Marces Nomikos, wealthy Greek shipowner. Her brother - in - law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill, are traveling with her.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

The World Faces 'The Last Shoot-Out'

Do we Americans realize what a brainwashing we've taken from Hollywood's TV Westerns? Most of us have seen so many long, lean cowboys solve their problems with a six-gun that we've got ourselves believing one big shoot-out is the solution for every problem — provided, of course, that we get the drop on our opponent.

Hal Humphrey

Even the usually erudite CBS correspondent Eric Sevareid slipped into some Old West vernacular when reporting on President Kennedy's trip to Vienna last week.

"The President," said Sevareid, "has one bullet in the chamber, still covering Berlin, but by no means is all of his powder dry."

HOW MANY OF US could just see Kid Kennedy walking stealthily down Vienna's main drag toward Bart Khrushchev? Neither man makes a move for his gun, but as they close in and eye each other carefully, the following conversation ensues:

KID KENNEDY: You lookin' for trouble?

BART K.: Maybe—and what're you gonna do about it?

KID KENNEDY: I never said I was lookin' for trouble.

BART K.: You tryin' to say I'm the troublemaker?

KID KENNEDY: I'm just sayin' a man does what he has to do. Now get outta Vienna.

BART K.: I'm goin', but there are other towns — Paris, Berlin, Montgomery — and if I get there first, next time, watch out!

THIS KIND of thing might be a smash on the TV screens for 39 weeks, especially with those stars. But the shoot-out, or smile-when-you-say-that technique, is obsolete for settling world frictions.

Saner thinkers now believe there are better ways of getting rid of brother Castro than that ill-fated popgun shoot-out we tried. Who can deny, however, that the men who conceived the Cuban invasion were at least subconsciously mesmerized by the idea of Big Uncle Sam's outdrawing Black Fidel?

DR. EDWARD TELLER, who sometimes is fondly referred to as "the father of the H-bomb," appeared on a TV panel in San Francisco recently. Frequently he referred to A-bombs and H-bombs as defensive weapons (when in our hands). Several things he said during the 90 minutes indicated that he felt we were headed for the big shoot-out.

The impact of Gary Cooper's death on this country also, to some extent, epitomized the kind of hero we worship. Cooper symbolized the stern, kindly loner ready to fight against any odds to preserve justice and his dignity as a man. All of the Cooper obituaries likened him to the hero he played in the 1945 movie, "High Noon."

There is nothing wrong with this except that a nuclear fission society of nations of varying development cannot be compared to the black-and-white heroes of "High Noon" or "Gunsmoke," even though it seems to make life much simpler.

IT'S IMPORTANT today to realize that these Western sagas we watch on TV now are fairy tales, and then explain to our kids why this is true. The frontier of the Old West and the frontiers of space and atomic radiation are not the same.

Alan Shepard went to great pains and effort after his Mercury space flight to dissuade any of us from thinking that he had done it alone. He insisted that the other six astronauts accompany him to that Washington press conference and medal ceremony of President Kennedy's.

Shepard wanted no one to get the idea that he was a lone cowboy riding a capsule into the horizon.

Why? Because he knows that's passe thinking. It's escapism only. Nothing is likely to stop Hollywood's producers from grinding out more Westerns (unless it's the final shoot-out), but we should remember as we watch them on TV that they are just something to entertain us — not a way of life.

Kind Reports Vote Expense

William T. Kind spent $153 in his unsuccessful bid for the Republican mayoralty nomination in the May 2 municipal primaries, it was shown today in a sworn statement of campaign expenditures on file with the County Election Board.

Kind was one of three East Liverpool aspirants to file the reports. Unsuccessful Democratic candidates filed the others.

Councilman Robert B. Laughlin, who lost a bid for renomination to a second term in the Fourth Ward, reported expenses of $6.70. Charles W. McCoy, unsuccessful in a bid for the Third Ward Council nomination, listed expenses of $13.39.

Two Wellsville candidates filed the reports. Charles W. Stoddard, GOP candidate for councilman-at-large, listed expenses of $28.92. Elmer A. Daniels, a Democratic candidate for the First Ward Council nomination, said he spent $9.

Two Salem candidates also filed reports. Donald C. Cannon, a Republican aspirant for the Second Ward Council seat, reported he had no expenses. Paul M. Howard, Democratic candidate for a Council-at-large seat, also reported no expenses.

The deadline for the reports is a week away — June 16 at 4 p. m. They are required under the "corrupt practices act," which puts a ceiling on campaign expenses. State law says they must be filed by all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and by committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Cooper bequeated the bulk of his estate, valued in excess of $1 million, to his widow Veronica. The actor also made provision for lifetime care for his mother.

The screen star died of cancer May 13. His will, filed for probate Thursday, made these other bequests:

Ten thousand dollars to the Motion Picture Relief Fund; $5,000 each to a brother, Arthur, of Indio, Calif., a nephew, Howard Cooper, and a niece, Georgia Burton of Marion, Ohio; and $1,000 to Our Lady of Gethsemane Abbey, Louisville, Ky.

Miami U. To Lower Racial Bars June 15

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Racial bars will be lowered for the first time at the University of Miami in the summer session starting June 15.

Dr. Paul K. Vonk, chairman of the Admissions Committee, said no records had been kept of the number of Negroes to be admitted.

"There was no quota, and we had no reason to count them," he said. "All applications are accepted or rejected on their merits."

Floral Society Plans Spraying Discussion

A brief discussion on how to spray and dust flowers and gardens will feature the meeting of the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Riverview Greenhouse.

Plants, tubers and annuals will be available for those who could not attend the annual dahlia tuber and perennial auction in May. A scenic movie on Oregon will be screened by Frank Richmond.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any solution, short of murder, to get two kids to stop fighting in the back seat of a car?

Last summer we took our two children on a 600-mile auto trip. When we got home both my husband and I were on the brink of a nervous breakdown. The girl is 10 and the boy is 5.

They behave reasonably well at home but whenever we get out on the open road I know we're in for it. We've tried color books, games, toys, favorite foods and the numerous suggestions our friends have offered. It works for about 15 minutes and then they start to argue and pinch each other and the hitting and crying beings.

We are planning another cross-country trip soon and I am dreading it. Please give me some advice that will work.—M.J.C.

Dear M.J.C.: Your children will continue to work you over so long as they know they can get away with it. Toys, color books and games are not nearly so exciting as a child's game called "Let's Aggravate Our Parents."

Before you set out for the next trip let them know that no more foolishness will be tolerated. Explain that the first fight-like sound heard from the back seat will be handled this way: Dad will pull off to the side of road. Mom will spank one and Dad will spank the other—and the procedure will be repeated as often as necessary.

Round And Round

Dear Ann: Three years ago I jumped on the cheating merry-go-round and I can't get off.

My wife is boring and we haven't seen eye to eye on anything in years. I turned to a gentle and soothing woman who works in my office. Her placid demeanor hid a frightening combination of neuroses.

I've nursed her through razor blades, sleeping pills and fits of depression. She uses me as a psychiatrist because she's afraid to see a real one. If I say "goodbye" she threatens to bring out the barbiturates again.

I've offered to marry her but she is afraid of the guilt which might result from "breaking up a marriage." So where does this leave me?—CAROUSEL.

Dear Carousel: If you want to help the girl, give her the names of two psychiatrists and tell her to take her choice. Then get out of her life. She'll feel better when she stops seeing you—and you'll feel better too.

Obtuse Triangle

Dear Ann: A very close buddy of mine went steady with a cool chick for several months. They broke up about three weeks ago. I asked the guy if it was okay for me to date her. He said, "Go ahead. It won't do you any good. She's still nuts about me."

After three dates, the girl told me she enjoys my company more than any fellow she has ever gone out with. I go for her, too. The trouble is, this buddy knows we've been seeing each other but he thinks she's only trying to make him jealous.

He says she will come back to him eventually because they were meant for each other. I know she won't. Shall I tell him?—IN THE MUDDLE.

Dear Muddle: What would you gain? He seems just as positive about his position as you are about yours. Time will tell whether he's right, or you are. In the meantime, keep your lip zipped. Her actions will speak far more eloquently than your words.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope

450 Will Attend Summer School

Nearly 450 students are expected to begin summer school courses Monday, Supt. Ralph W. Betts announced today.

Some 400 high school students have registered for courses in world history, American history, American government, economics and English II. Betts estimated the courses will be advanced work for some 300 pupils.

High school students will meet at 8:30 a. m. in the high school auditorium. Each class will be held three hours daily, five days a week for eight weeks, he said.

About 40 seventh and eighth graders are expected to attend summer classes at Westgate School. They will meet at 8:30 a. m. Monday at Westgate auditorium.

The classes will be for make-up work only and will include eighth grade arithmetic and English, and seventh grade English, science and history.

Mosquito Control Methods Given

LISBON — Floyd Lower, county extension agent, said the Ohio State University insect alert indicates the county can expect more mosquitoes than usual during June due to the wet spring.

Sometimes a nearby stagnant pool or storm sewer basin will hold enough water to turn out thousands of mosquitoes.

Sprays of DDT, Malathion, Chlordane or Lindane will kill mosquito wigglers in the water. As for the winged adults, spraying dense shrubbery or tall grass with those insecticides can reduce them. Municipal fogging programs also give some relief, but the best control comes only from eliminating the water sources in which mosquitoes breed, he said.

For leafhoppers on alfalfa, if it is droughty at the time of first cutting, they will multiply quickly to damage the second growth. If it is very dry, spray the second growth when 4 to 6 inches tall, using 1½ quarts Methozychlor 25 per cent emulsion concentrate per acre in 10 gallons of water. Do not wait for alfalfa to yellow, as the damage will have been done, the alert said.

City Student Gets Reserve Commission

Christian M. Ebaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ebaugh of Highland Colony, has received a commission as second lieutenant in the Army Reserve following completion of the ROTC program at Ohio University at Athens, where he received a bachelor of science degree in commerce.

Ebaugh, a 1954 graduate of East Liverpool High School and a member of Scabbard and Blade at the university, was presented his bars by his wife, Mrs. Helen Ebaugh.

Next time you serve clear chicken soup, wilt some watercress sprigs in it as you heat. Add sliced water chestnuts, too, if you are offering this to company!

Scout Group Airs Reports

Reports on scouting activities in Salineville were heard at a meeting of the Cherokee District Boy Scout commissioners' staff Wednesday night at the home of Robert Gray, district executive, at 536 Carolina Ave., Chester.

The Rev. James McCollom of the Salineville Presbyterian Church said his church will sponsor a Scout Troop and Explorer Post. Gerald Finnie, pastor of the Christian Church, reported on the progress of the newly - formed Cub Pack. He is institutional representative and commissioner.

Eugene Seeley, district commissioner, presided. Fifteen were present. Thomas Snow, district chairman, was a guest.

Seeley reported a leader training course, "Showando," will be held Aug. 12 at Camp McKinley near Lisbon. He said adult aid will be needed.

He also urged members to attend the annual work weekend June 16-18 at Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake. The camp is to open June 25.

Seeley said meals will be free with the exception of Saturday night supper.

Gray reported on the district's membership. He said there still is an opening for one or two boys for the Philmont Scout expedition in July. Anyone interested may contact him.

A district roundtable will be held Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the north pavilion at Thompson Park. Colin Brown will be in charge.

Picnic Will Follow Bible School Closing

The Daily Vacation Bible School at the First Church of the Nazarene will hold its final session tonight from 6:30 to 8:30. A picnic will follow on the church grounds.

The school began May 29 with about 304 registered.

Sunday morning at 9:30, in connection with the school, the young people will present a program including demonstrations for parents and friends.

Sam Snead was listed at 8 to 1 in the Tournament of Champions, an event in which he picked up $10,000 by winning this spring.

Old-Time Diamond Stars Recalled

Charles Russell, 915 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, turned back the pages of time the other day in the question of which East Liverpool man was "first" to make the grade in the major leagues.

He recalls two city men who broke into the majors "about the turn of the century."

Russell said he can recall seeing "Scoop" Carey play with the Baltimore Orioles and Win Mercer on the field with the Washington Senators — both playing against the Pirates in the days of the 12-team National League, before the American League was formed.

Mercer was "a dandy pitcher", Russell recalls. He's not certain what position Carey played, but he believes it was in the infield.

Russell said he can't fix the date exactly, but "it was a little after the turn of the century, before the American League was formed." In those days, many East Liverpool district men rode the "Flyer," a passenger train, to Pittsburgh in the mornings on business, then stayed over for an afternoon ball game, getting back to East Liverpool around 6 p. m., he recalls.

Russell was with the Riggs Co. in East Liverpool and Wellsville for 40 years. He also is a past president of the Central Federal Savings & Loan Co. in Wellsville.

Russell said his memories of old - time baseball were stirred Tuesday when he read of Bill Powell of East Liverpool breaking into the majors as a pitcher with the Pirates in 1909.

DR. JOSEPH M. Cartwright, local dentist, took us back even farther when he called the other day to discuss some old-time baseball players.

He mentioned Curt Welch, an outfielder who had an extensive career in baseball back before the turn of the century. Welch spent from 1884-1893 mostly in the American Association, which was considered major league at the time. He hit .307 for St. Louis in 1887.

He wound up his career in 1893 with Louisville, which at that time was in the National League.

Another was John Godwin, an infielder in 1905 and 1906 with Boston of the American League. Al Shaw was a catcher from 1901-1909, playing with Detroit, Boston and Chicago in the American League and Boston of the National circuit. Harry Wolfe, an East Liverpool resident, appeared in the big leagues briefly in 1917 with Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Venditti Gives Golf Lesson . . .

Venditti, in addition to being head football coach at Canton Lincoln has been named golf mentor. So, naturally, he won Tuesday's match, defeating, Allen, who was one of Lou's outstanding quarterbacks at East Liverpool. The match offered Lou a chance to give his first golf lesson.

Allen wallops a golf ball between 275 and 300 yards consistently and usually shoots par golf.

Since Bernie is heading for Minneapolis with the Twins, who return home Monday, he recalled the Purdue-Minnesota football game up there last season.

"Everything was going right for us that day. I even punted for a touchdown," Allen recalled.

It was late in the game with Purdue leading 17-14. Allen went back to punt from about midfield. The ball was sky high and sailed down to about the five-yard line, where it hit a Minnesota back on the shoulder and rolled into the end zone. The Boilermakers' speedy Jimmy Tiller fell on the ball for a touchdown.

THE TWINS will go to Boston for a three-game series, opening with a doubleheader Sunday and followed by a single game Monday. Minnesota will entertain Kansas City in a three-game series at Minneapolis, beginning Tuesday.

IN ANSWER to many questions about the $50,000 which Allen received for signing with the Twins: He will receive the sum over a five-year period (for tax purposes) at $10,000 a year.

On top of that goes his salary, which will be paid according to what type of contract he receives. If it is a major league contract, he can't receive less than $7,000 per year.

Cunningham Reports Monday . . .

KENNY CUNNINGHAM reports Monday to Cuyahoga Falls where the North and South squads will begin practice sessions for the All-Star game next Saturday night.

The schedule for the All-Stars includes a baseball game at Cleveland and a tour of Kent State University. Both teams will be quartered for a week at Cuyahoga Falls.

Dave Martin, athletic director at Cuyahoga Falls and director of the game, said more than half of the 3,000 seats have been sold. The game will start at 8 p. m. in the new high school gym at Cuyahoga Falls High School.

McKinley Reasoning? . . .

WE CAN'T quite buy Canton McKinley's reasons for not joining the new basketball league.

The reasons are scheduling problems at Memorial Fieldhouse and the probability that McKinley wouldn't be strengthening itself by making definite league ties.

The scheduling shouldn't be any different than in the past. McKinley always scheduled a certain number of home games for the fieldhouse floor.

We can't imagine McKinley finding any stronger opponents in basketball than are listed in the league. The Bulldogs would benefit more at the gate with league play creating more interest.

Canton officials did point out that McKinley wouldn't join the league because of some of the teams which have entered, meaning Alliance apparently. McKinley and Alliance broke off basketball relations last year because of trouble with spectators at Alliance.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JIM DICKEY, rounding into shape for his tryout with the Minnesota Twins at Minneapolis next week, pitched two innings Wednesday for the Cox-Merchants of the County-City League before the rains came.

In those two frames he faced seven batters and struck out six. It looks like the big righthander is razor sharp. He said everything was working well for him Wednesday.

REMEMBER Don Sutherin, the former Toronto High School and Ohio State football star. He is catching in the Canton City Class A League. Don will play in the Canadian pro football league next fall.

Ensinger, who was given a tryout by the Pirates this week, is planning to enroll at Bowling Green University, where he is promised an athletic grant-in-aid if he can make the baseball team, a goal he should achieve without much trouble.

Pittsburgh officials said they would contact him later and showed an interest in the young infielder. Ensinger graduated from Beaver Local High School last week.

Tribe's Piersall Favorite Target Of Detroit Fans

DETROIT (AP) — Cleveland's Jim Piersall is still the favorite target of Detroit bleacher fans. The Tribe centerfielder said a golf ball, a baseball and a bottle opener were hurled at him in Thursday night's opener.

Piersall kept quiet during the barrage, but in the seventh inning he suddenly raced into the infield and complained to Umpire Larry Napp.

"The golf ball whizzed right past my head," said Piersall. "And I was mad. I told Napp I'm liable to get killed. He just laughed and I told him he's got the worst set of umpires in the league."

Manager Jimmie Dykes said: "I told Napp that if Piersall got hurt, I'd pull my club right off the field."

Midland Pin Loop Sets Fete Saturday

The Midland Women's Ten Pin Bowling League banquet will be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Serbian National Home. Entertainment will be furnished by John Celli's Music School of East Liverpool. Prizes will be given to top bowlers. Mrs. Sophie Trainer is secretary for the league which has 80 members.

Indians Stand Pat In Split With Detroit; Ahead By ½

Funk Nails Victory For Jim Perry

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians clung to a half-game lead in the American League race by splitting a pair of one-run decisions with second place Detroit Thursday night.

The Tribe, winning 10 in a row for the first time since 1954, won the opener 1-0, but the Tigers took a protested, 2-1 victory in the nightcap as Frank Lary became the first pitcher to win nine in the majors this season.

Third place New York split with Kansas City, winning 6-1 before the A's broke out for a 9-6 victory in the second game. The Minnesota Twins, after losing 13 in a row, fled the cellar with a 3-1 victory at Baltimore. Boston defeated Los Angeles 6-5 in the opener of a twi-night pair, but the second game was called by rain and ended in a 4-4, 11-inning tie. The Chicago-Washington game was rained out.

First-inning doubles by Johnny Temple and Vic Power gave Cleveland its run in the opener and handed six-game winner Don Mossi his first defeat. The Tigers out-hit the Indians 10-7, but lost their third in a row as Frank Funk nailed the victory for Jim Perry (4-4) with two innings of one-hit relief.

Detroit broke through for its first score in 15 innings when Norm Cash homered off loser Wynn Hawkins (5-3) in the second game of the nightcap. Lary singled and scored the deciding run on Charlie Maxwell's bases-loaded grounder in the fifth. Lary (9-3) struck out eight and didn't walk a man.

The Cleveland protest came in the eighth. While Detroit Manager Bob Scheffing was arguing that Cleveland's Bob Hale should have been called out at first base, the Tigers caught Hale off base. The Indians protested on grounds that time was out while Scheffing was on the field.

Bill Skowron drove in four runs for the Yankees in the first game, two with an eighth-inning homer that gave New York 32 home runs, an AL record, for 17 consecutive games. Rookie Bill Stafford (3-2) won with a five-hitter against the A's and Norm Bass (4-3). Southpaw rookie Jim Archer (3-1) then ended the home run string and cut the Yankees' winning streak at six in the nightcap. The A's beat Danny McDevitt (1-2), coming from behind in a five-run third on a double by Hank Bauer and three consecutive triples, by Lee Posada, Norm Siebern and Joe Pignatano.

A two-run homer by Billy Martin in the third inning off Jack Fisher (2-7) gave the Twins their second victory in the last 20 games. Jim Kaat (2-5) won it when reliever Chuck Stobbs retired Jim Busby with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Boston beat the Angels and reliever Ryne Duren (1-6) with a pair of unearned runs on Gene Leek's error and Vic Wertz' homer in the seventh inning. Ted Wills (2-2) won it with four innings of three-hit, shutout relief.

Twins Create World Series Atmosphere

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was like a World Series victory in June.

As soon as center fielder Bill Tuttle caught a fly ball for the final out, Minnesota infielders rushed to shake pitcher Chuck Stobbs' hand. Others poured from the dugout to join in the backslapping.

Shortstop Zorro Versalles tossed his glove into the air and headed into a happy dressing room — for a change.

Tuttle's catch Thursday night not only ended a bases-loaded threat by the Baltimore Orioles. It preserved a 3-1 Minnesota victory and ended a 13-game losing streak by the Twins.

Billy Martin's two-run homer in the third inning, after he missed an attempted bunt, and a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth by Bob Allison scored the Minnesota runs. Jim Kaat, the first of three Twins' pitchers, was the winner.

Del Rice of the Los Angeles Angels formerly played professional basketball with the Rochester Royals of the old National Basketball League. He was with them five seasons.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S Bernie Allen (left) talks with Sam Mele, acting manager of the Twins, shortly after joining the Minnesota club Thursday at Baltimore. The $50,000 bonus baby did not play Thursday night but must have been a good luck omen since the Twins ended a 13-game losing streak by defeating the Orioles, 3-1. Allen will work out and receive instruction with the Twins, then is expected to be sent to the club's minor league team at Charlotte, N. C. (UPI Telephoto)

Four More College Players Listed On Scandal Sheet

NEW YORK (AP) — It may be another three months before the investigation into the still-growing college basketball scandal—which now counts 31 players, 17 schools and 40 games—is completed, Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said today.

Four former players, previously named as co-conspirators, were indicted Thursday on charges of conspiracy and bribery. At the same time, Hogan released the names of two new players covering one more game allegedly involved in the revelations of point-shaving that have stretched from coast-to-coast.

The newly accused players, according to Hogan, were Jack Rose, 23, captain of the Connecticut basketball team a year ago; and Ray Stanley, 23, a recent graduate of the University of North Carolina.

Their names came up as Dave Budin, 28, former Brooklyn College star; Jerry Vogel, 24, of the Bronx, N.Y., and Dan Quindazzi, 24, of Yonkers, N.Y., both former Alabama players; and Lou Brown, 22, of Jersey City, N.J., were indicted on charges of conspiracy and bribery. All four had been named previously in the investigation which began in March as co-conspirators indictments of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hacken, both of New York.

Both Rose and Stanley were granted immunity for their testimony. Bail was set at $1,000 each for Vogel and Budin and at $500 for Quindazzi. Brown was paroled. All four were released pending trial, date of which has not been set.

7 Schools Ready To Enter League; McKinley Looms?

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Seven schools from the original list of nine, which were being considered, informally approved the formation of a basketball league when representatives met for the second time Thursday night at the Lape Hotel in Salem.

East Liverpool, Warren, Alliance, Salem, Massillon, Steubenville Big Red and Niles all are ready to enter the league which officially adopted the name of the Ohio Big 8 Basketball Conference. All seven schools were represented last night.

Cuyahoga Falls withdrew from the loop because the school is a member of another athletic league.

Canton McKinley, which did not send a representative to last night's meeting, loomed as a big question mark today.

McKinley will be encouraged to join the league to make it an eight - team circuit, but if the Canton school turns thumbs down, the league is expected to operate with seven teams.

The executive board, consisting of principals or a delegated representative from each member school, is expected to officially form the league at the next meeting June 22 at Salem.

McKinley cited the following reasons for not joining the league in an article which appeared in the Canton newspaper earlier this week: scheduling problems at Memorial Fieldhouse; the probability that McKinley wouldn't be strenghtening itself by making definite league ties, and the fact that Alliance was in the league and McKinley and the Aviators broke off basketball relations last year.

THE SEVEN schools represented at Thursday's meeting expressed their eagerness to form the loop, which could be rolling in full force by the 1962-63 season when each team would be playing each other once.

East Liverpool received approval from the local Athletic Board last week. In addition to approving East Liverpool's entering the league, the Board gave its approval of renewing competition with Steubenville Big Red in basketball only.

East Liverpool and Steubenville haven't been scheduled since 1956 following several incidents on the part of student and adult fans from both schools.

Hargraves was appointed temporary chairman of the executive committee by Dick Boyd, Warren basketball coach, who is serving as acting chairman.

A PROPOSED constitution was discussed and will await approval from the respective school boards.

Serving on the constitution committee were John Cabas of Salem, Boyd, Joe Basset of Niles plus the athletic directors from Salem, Warren and Niles.

Various names were submitted by each school with the "Big 8" popping up in about every suggestion. If the league should have only seven teams, it probably will be known as the "Big 7."

Milton Mollenkopf, principal at Warren High School, proposed a sportsmanship award for member schools in an effort to promote better sportsmanship within the league. A system of grading sportsmanship will be worked out and submitted at the next meeting.

We learned some facts about submarines that we thought interesting enough to pass along to you. It seems that prior to World War 1 the submarine saw very little actual warfare, but during that period it engaged in some pretty weird "set-tos," besides firmly establishing itself as a major weapon of modern warfare.

For example, there is the case of the British sub G-11 which was captured by an abandoned German balloon. It seems that while surfaced the sub tried to engage the balloon which was hovering nearby. Soon the balloon was directly overhead and so near the water that its trailing lines became enmeshed with the sub's screws. The sub was helpless. It had to shoot down the gas bag and then work for hours to free its propellers before it could resume patrol. Then there are the cases of the subs that were captured by cavalry, rammed by trucks, slugged it out with infantry, railway and field artillery. One sank an active zeppelin, and one was even attacked by a mad Turk rowboat.

As in our business, apparently anything can happen, and usually does, but when prepared for it, as we always try to be, we can give you top satisfaction in just about any situation.

Old-Time Diamond Stars Recalled

Charles Russell, 915 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, turned back the pages of time the other day in the question of which East Liverpool man was "first" to make the grade in the major leagues.

He recalls two city men who broke into the majors "about the turn of the century."

Russell said he can recall seeing "Scoop" Carey play with the Baltimore Orioles and Win Mercer on the field with the Washington Senators — both playing against the Pirates in the days of the 12-team National League, before the American League was formed.

Mercer was "a dandy pitcher", Russell recalls. He's not certain what position Carey played, but he believes it was in the infield.

Russell said he can't fix the date exactly, but "it was a little after the turn of the century, before the American League was formed." In those days, many East Liverpool district men rode the "Flyer," a passenger train, to Pittsburgh in the mornings on business, then stayed over for an afternoon ball game, getting back to East Liverpool around 6 p. m., he recalls.

Russell was with the Riggs Co. in East Liverpool and Wellsville for 40 years. He also is a past president of the Central Federal Savings & Loan Co. in Wellsville.

Russell said his memories of old - time baseball were stirred Tuesday when he read of Bill Powell of East Liverpool breaking into the majors as a pitcher with the Pirates in 1909.

DR. JOSEPH M. Cartwright, local dentist, took us back even farther when he called the other day to discuss some old-time baseball players.

He mentioned Curt Welch, an outfielder who had an extensive career in baseball back before the turn of the century. Welch spent from 1884-1893 mostly in the American Association, which was considered major league at the time. He hit .307 for St. Louis in 1887.

He wound up his career in 1893 with Louisville, which at that time was in the National League.

Another was John Godwin, an infielder in 1905 and 1906 with Boston of the American League. Al Shaw was a catcher from 1901-1909, playing with Detroit, Boston and Chicago in the American League and Boston of the National circuit. Harry Wolfe, an East Liverpool resident, appeared in the big leagues briefly in 1917 with Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Venditti Gives Golf Lesson . . .

Venditti, in addition to being head football coach at Canton Lincoln has been named golf mentor. So, naturally, he won Tuesday's match, defeating, Allen, who was one of Lou's outstanding quarterbacks at East Liverpool. The match offered Lou a chance to give his first golf lesson.

It was late in the game with Purdue leading 17-14. Allen went back to punt from about midfield. The ball was sky high and sailed down to about the five-yard line, where it hit a Minnesota back on the shoulder and rolled into the end zone. The Boilermakers' speedy Jimmy Tiller fell on the ball for a touchdown.

THE TWINS will go to Boston for a three-game series, opening with a doubleheader Sunday and followed by a single game Monday. Minnesota will entertain Kansas City in a three-game series at Minneapolis, beginning Tuesday.

IN ANSWER to many questions about the $50,000 which Allen received for signing with the Twins: He will receive the sum over a five-year period (for tax purposes) at $10,000 a year.

On top of that goes his salary, which will be paid according to what type of contract he receives. If it is a major league contract, he can't receive less than $7,000 per year.

Cunningham Reports Monday . . .

KENNY CUNNINGHAM reports Monday to Cuyahoga Falls where the North and South squads will begin practice sessions for the All-Star game next Saturday night.

The schedule for the All-Stars includes a baseball game at Cleveland and a tour of Kent State University. Both teams will be quartered for a week at Cuyahoga Falls.

Dave Martin, athletic director at Cuyahoga Falls and director of the game, said more than half of the 3,000 seats have been sold. The game will start at 8 p. m. in the new high school gym at Cuyahoga Falls High School.

McKinley Reasoning? . . .

WE CAN'T quite buy Canton McKinley's reasons for not joining the new basketball league.

The reasons are scheduling problems at Memorial Fieldhouse and the probability that McKinley wouldn't be strengthening itself by making definite league ties.

The scheduling shouldn't be any different than in the past. McKinley always scheduled a certain number of home games for the fieldhouse floor.

We can't imagine McKinley finding any stronger opponents in basketball than are listed in the league. The Bulldogs would benefit more at the gate with league play creating more interest.

Canton officials did point out that McKinley wouldn't join the league because of some of the teams which have entered, meaning Alliance apparently. McKinley and Alliance broke off basketball relations last year because of trouble with spectators at Alliance.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JIM DICKEY, rounding into shape for his tryout with the Minnesota Twins at Minneapolis next week, pitched two innings Wednesday for the Cox-Merchants of the County-City League before the rains came.

In those two frames he faced seven batters and struck out six. It looks like the big righthander is razor sharp. He said everything was working well for him Wednesday.

REMEMBER Don Sutherin, the former Toronto High School and Ohio State football star. He is catching in the Canton City Class A League. Don will play in the Canadian pro football league next fall.

Ensinger, who was given a tryout by the Pirates this week, is planning to enroll at Bowling Green University, where he is promised an athletic grant-in-aid if he can make the baseball team, a goal he should achieve without much trouble.

Pittsburgh officials said they would contact him later and showed an interest in the young infielder. Ensinger graduated from Beaver Local High School last week.

Tribe's Piersall Favorite Target Of Detroit Fans

DETROIT (AP) — Cleveland's Jim Piersall is still the favorite target of Detroit bleacher fans. The Tribe centerfielder said a golf ball, a baseball and a bottle opener were hurled at him in Thursday night's opener.

Piersall kept quiet during the barrage, but in the seventh inning he suddenly raced into the infield and complained to Umpire Larry Napp.

"The golf ball whizzed right past my head," said Piersall. "And I was mad. I told Napp I'm liable to get killed. He just laughed and I told him he's got the worst set of umpires in the league."

Manager Jimmie Dykes said: "I told Napp that if Piersall got hurt, I'd pull my club right off the field."

Midland Pin Loop Sets Fete Saturday

The Midland Women's Ten Pin Bowling League banquet will be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Serbian National Home. Entertainment will be furnished by John Celli's Music School of East Liverpool. Prizes will be given to top bowlers. Mrs. Sophie Trainer is secretary for the league which has 80 members.

Funk Nails Victory For Jim Perry

The Cleveland Indians clung to a half-game lead in the American League race by splitting a pair of one-run decisions with second place Detroit Thursday night.

The Tribe, winning 10 in a row for the first time since 1954, won the opener 1-0, but the Tigers took a protested, 2-1 victory in the nightcap as Frank Lary became the first pitcher to win nine in the majors this season.

Third place New York split with Kansas City, winning 6-1 before the A's broke out for a 9-6 victory in the second game. The Minnesota Twins, after losing 13 in a row, fled the cellar with a 3-1 victory at Baltimore. BOB REDMOND

We learned some facts about submarines that we thought interesting enough to pass along to you. It seems that prior to World War 1 the submarine saw very little actual warfare, but during that period it engaged in some pretty weird "set-tos," besides firmly establishing itself as a major weapon of modern warfare.

For example, there is the case of the British sub G-11 which was captured by an abandoned German balloon. It seems that while surfaced the sub tried to engage the balloon which was hovering nearby. Soon the balloon was directly overhead and so near the water that its trailing lines became enmeshed with the sub's screws. The sub was helpless. It had to shoot down the gas bag and then work for hours to free its propellers before it could resume patrol. Then there are the cases of the subs that were captured by cavalry, rammed by trucks, slugged it out with infantry, railway and field artillery. One sank an active zeppelin, and one was even attacked by a mad Turk rowboat.

As in our business, apparently anything can happen, and usually does, but when prepared for it, as we always try to be, we can give you top satisfaction in just about any situation.

Maz, Skinner Homers Give Pirates Edge

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

After losing seven in a row as a starter, Bob Friend beat second place Los Angeles 4-2 with relief help from Bobby Shantz Thursday night, pushing the Pittsburgh Pirates within 3½ games of the National League lead again.

The loss dropped the Dodgers a half-game behind the Cincinnati Reds, who defeated Milwaukee 10-8 despite four consecutive homers by the Braves that set a major league record.

Philadelphia beat San Francisco 5-2 in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

A pair of two-run homers by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski in the fourth inning did it for the Pirates against Stan Williams (4-5). Willie Davis homered in the sixth for the Dodgers. Shantz came on in the eighth nailing it for Friend (6-7) with 1 2-3 hitless innings of relief.

The Braves walloped six home runs, two by Ed Mathews, while losing their eighth in 11 tries against the Reds. Mathews, Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas put together the record four-in-a row in the eighth inning off winner Jim Maloney (4-2) and reliever Marshall Bridges. Losing pitcher Warren Spahn (6-5) tagged the other home run. Gene Freese, who drove in four runs, and Gordie Coleman hit home runs for the Reds, with Freese' three-run shot off reliever Moe Drabowsky clinching it in the sixth inning.

Philadelphia defeated Sam Jones (5-5) for the first time in nine decisions since June 27, 1959. John Buzhardt (2-5) beat the Giants for the first time in his career. He allowed four hits, two of them solo homers by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey.

Athletics Take Bonus Race Lead, Chester, Pa., Star Paid $125,000

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's bird dogs — the big league scouts — are busier than a last place team's bullpen chasing around high schools and signing almost any athlete who graduates, it seems.

The frantic search for talent is even wilder than usual this summer because of the majors' expansion program which will be accelerated next year with the addition of the National League clubs.

The huge sums offered to untried teen-agers almost certainly will reach record heights, easily surpassing the reported $7.5 million spent on bonuses last year. Two clubs already have shelled out more than $100,000 for a single prospect. Two others reportedly have gone as high as $200,000 in an effort to land an 18-year-old high school boy.

The Kansas City Athletics announced Thursday they had given what they proudly said was a "cash record" of $125,000 to Chester, Pa., high school pitcher Lew Krausse, 18. He was recommended by his father, a former pitcher and now a scout for the Athletics.

Just two weeks ago, the New York Yankees said they had given more than $100,000 to Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-America quarterback and star third baseman.

Milwaukee and Pittsburgh are said to be ready to spend $200,000 for Bob Bailey, 18, a shortstop at Wilson High in Long Beach, Calif. He will become eligible for a bonus when he graduates June 15.

The Braves supposedly beat 17 other clubs to the door of Arnold Umbach, 18, a pitcher at Baylor Prep. A fat $80,000 bonus served as the pass-word.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who recently corralled Kerry McDaniel, a younger brother of Lindy and Von, for $50,000, divided $100,000 between Dave Fritz, 20, University of Minnesota outfielder and Craig Seegmiller, a Provo, Utah, high school shortstop.

Braves Set New Major League Mark With Four Consecutive Home Runs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Chuck Dressen, who remembers nostalgically the days his Milwaukee Braves could run roughshod over Cincinnati, still expects the Reds to fold soon.

He said Thursday, "The Reds have surprised even themselves with some of the best pitching in the league.

"But they haven't started feeling the pressure yet. That could make a big difference and usually does."

Dressen's Braves came up with some pressure Thursday—record-setting hitting, in fact—but the Reds stiffened resistance and held on for a 10-8 victory.

The record-making part was four straight homers — by Eddie Mathews, Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas—good for five runs in the seventh inning. Several clubs had boasted three homers in a row previously.

The Rhinelanders had been cruising along with a 10-2 lead until the big barrage, but reliever Marshall Bridges managed to cut off the rally. Bill Henry and Jim Brosnan finished up.

The Reds collected only two homers—by Gordie Coleman and Gene Freese, but collected some other timely hitting.

The Reds kept moving against Spahn in the early innings, picking up single runs in the second and third. Spahn's homer in the third followed by two hits a walk and a forceout produced a 2-2 tie.

In the fourth the Reds made a real show of strength. Coleman put down a safe bunt, and a walk and Don Blasingame's single brought one marker. Vada Pinson singled in two more.

Moe Drabowsky drew the worst of the Reds' fire in the sixth, with Freese driving in three runs with a homer and Coleman adding his circuit blow.

Cincinnati, back in the National League lead, moved out to St. Louis for a game tonight with the Cardinals. Jim O'Toole of the Reds and Curt Simmons are due to pitch.

OSU Pitcher Signs Bonus Pact With Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Apple, a 23-year-old right-hander for Ohio State, has signed a bonus contract, the New York Mets announced. Apple, converted from a third baseman to a pitcher this season, was assigned to Mobile of the Southern Association. He hails from Cincinnati.

The Mets begin play next season in the expansion of the National League to 10 teams.

Potters Top T. S. & T. In Minor Loop Play

Don Lacy, backed by three double plays, pitched a two-hitter for a 6-5 victory for Potters Savings and Loan over T.S.&T. Thursday in a Minor League contest.

Moore, Rinaldi Are Set To Square Off Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Gulio Rinaldi knows what he has to do to beat Archie Moore in their light heavyweight title fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

After all he did get the verdict over a plumpish Moore in a non-title ten in Rome last Oct. 29 and he has carefully scrutinized films of Archie's losing heavyweight title fights with Rocky Marciano and Floyd Patterson.

"Marciano and Patterson pressed him," said the Italian. "They knocked him out. Move Moore back and his legs get tired. I guess that has been his trouble for a long time.

Okay, Giulio knows the answer. But can he do it?

"I think I can," he said via an interpreter. "Maybe it will take me seven or eight rounds but I think I can stop him."

But the big question won't be answered by Giulio. It's all up to Archie. If old age doesn't catch up to him in one swoop—like it very well could—he's apt to blast the strong but light-powered Italian out of action in three rounds.

"I feel great," said Moore as he prepared to break camp today at Monticello, N. Y. "I feel better now than I have in a long time. All I can say is that I wish that Rinaldi makes good on his promise to go after me. Then it will be mighty interesting."

Rinaldi, with only eight knockouts in 30 fights (25-5), doesn't compare with Archie in punching. Moore has knocked out 130 opponents (in 212 fights) for a world record.

Garden officials report lively business at the box office and expect a crowd of 10,000 to contribute to a $50,000 gate despite local and national television (ABC TV 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time). The TV fee is $150,000. Archie has been guaranteed $100,000 plus $12,000 expenses. Rinaldi will collect $25,000 plus expenses plus the shot at the title.

Murtaugh Told You So, Predicted 6-Team Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When you look at the National League standings today, don't forget Danny Murtaugh told you so.

"A lotta people thought I was crazy," he said, "but I've been saying all along I thought there'd be six clubs in this thing. And I still think it's going to be a helluva race."

Murtaugh looked even more like a prophet Thursday night, when his Pirates knocked the Los Angeles Dodgers out of first place by beating them 4-2 on two-run homers by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski.

"The only reason I counted even two clubs out," Murtaugh said later, "was that I figured the Cubs and the Phillies were in the middle of a rebuilding program."

"Actually, you can't count anybody out because all those players with the Cubs or Phillies might just decide to have a good year all at once."

Oklahoma State Favored To Win NCAA Baseball

OMAHA (AP) — Oklahoma State, loaded with veterans of NCAA College Baseball World Series play, is the early favorite to take the 1961 championship.

The series opens tonight with the Cowboys, champions of the Big Eight conference to which Nebraska belongs and therefore a sentimental favorite, meeting Duke.

The other six schools taking part are Colorado State, Syracuse, Western Michigan, Boston College, Texas and Southern California.

Wyoming's tennis team has taken the last two Skyline Eastern Division crowns.

Athletics Take Bonus Race Lead, Chester, Pa., Star Paid $125,000

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's bird dogs — the big league scouts — are busier than a last place team's bullpen chasing around high schools and signing almost any athlete who graduates, it seems.

Moore, Rinaldi Are Set To Square Off Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Gulio Rinaldi knows what he has to do to beat Archie Moore in their light heavyweight title fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

After all he did get the verdict over a plumpish Moore in a non-title ten in Rome last Oct. 29 and he has carefully scrutinized films of Archie's losing heavyweight title fights with Rocky Marciano and Floyd Patterson.

"Marciano and Patterson pressed him," said the Italian. "They knocked him out. Move Moore back and his legs get tired. I guess that has been his trouble for a long time.

Okay, Giulio knows the answer. But can he do it?

"I think I can," he said via an interpreter. "Maybe it will take me seven or eight rounds but I think I can stop him."

But the big question won't be answered by Giulio. It's all up to Archie. If old age doesn't catch up to him in one swoop—like it very well could—he's apt to blast the strong but light-powered Italian out of action in three rounds.

"I feel great," said Moore as he prepared to break camp today at Monticello, N. Y. "I feel better now than I have in a long time. All I can say is that I wish that Rinaldi makes good on his promise to go after me. Then it will be mighty interesting."

Rinaldi, with only eight knockouts in 30 fights (25-5), doesn't compare with Archie in punching. Moore has knocked out 130 opponents (in 212 fights) for a world record.

Garden officials report lively business at the box office and expect a crowd of 10,000 to contribute to a $50,000 gate despite local and national television (ABC TV 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time). The TV fee is $150,000. Archie has been guaranteed $100,000 plus $12,000 expenses. Rinaldi will collect $25,000 plus expenses plus the shot at the title.

Murtaugh Told You So, Predicted 6-Team Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When you look at the National League standings today, don't forget Danny Murtaugh told you so.

He's one of the guys who predicted last spring there'd be a six-club race in the National League this season.

Murtaugh was sitting in his dugout when his prediction occurred to him.

"A lotta people thought I was crazy," he said, "but I've been saying all along I thought there'd be six clubs in this thing. And I still think it's going to be a helluva race."

Murtaugh looked even more like a prophet Thursday night, when his Pirates knocked the Los Angeles Dodgers out of first place by beating them 4-2 on two-run homers by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski.

"The only reason I counted even two clubs out," Murtaugh said later, "was that I figured the Cubs and the Phillies were in the middle of a rebuilding program."

"Actually, you can't count anybody out because all those players with the Cubs or Phillies might just decide to have a good year all at once."

Oklahoma State Favored To Win NCAA Baseball

OMAHA (AP) — Oklahoma State, loaded with veterans of NCAA College Baseball World Series play, is the early favorite to take the 1961 championship.

The series opens tonight with the Cowboys, champions of the Big Eight conference to which Nebraska belongs and therefore a sentimental favorite, meeting Duke.

The other six clubs swing into action Saturday.

The other six schools taking part are Colorado State, Syracuse, Western Michigan, Boston College, Texas and Southern California.

Wyoming's tennis team has taken the last two Skyline Eastern Division crowns.

Arrest Of 5 Riders Soars Total To 98

Officers ordered the four whites and one Negro girl out of the white waiting room of the Illinois Central station. When they refused, police arrested them on charges of breach of peace.

Today's arrests pushed the total to 98 riders abruptly halted in their challenges of segregation policies of the capital city's transportation terminals.

The City Court sentenced 21 Thursday to two months in jail and $200 fines after their arrival by air, train and bus. All were charged with breach of peace. The group included 9 whites and 12 Negroes.

The 21 boosted the total convicted—all under the same charge—to 93. Of the total, 19 were released on bond and 2 paid their fines.

Two who posted bond after conviction Thursday were Mark Lane 33, of New York City, a white member of the State Legislature; and Percy Sutton, 40, Negro president of the New York City branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

East Palestine Judge Fines District Driver

Max O. Hutchinson of R. D. 1 was fined $5 and costs by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine Thursday for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Others penalized included Fred Wimer of Lisbon, $15 and costs for no driver's license and $5 and costs for a stop sign violation, and Kenneth Morris, 816 N. Market St., Lisbon, $5 and costs for speeding.

Herman Guy, 706 W. Clark St., East Palestine, forfeited $15 bond for making an improper left turn. Harry J. Bush, 10 Park Dr., East Palestine, was fined $5 and costs for driving an unsafe vehicle.

Girls Groups Await East Palestine Camp

Stone House To Open

LISBON — The Lisbon Historical Society announced today the Old Stone House, a museum, will be open to visitors each Friday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. and Sundays from 2 to 5 p. m. Persons who have Civil War relics for display there may contact Miss Clara McGee, HA 4-3554.

Man Fights Courtroom Battle To Save Filly

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — A little five-year-old mare, once marked for destruction because of a leg injury, may face the same fate again very shortly.

Decision Nine is her name, but despite her famous heritage—she was by Ponder, one of a line of five consecutive Kentucky Derby winners—the little filly failed to make the grade. Then in May 1959 at Pimlico, she suffered a leg injury and was ordered destroyed by her owner, Miss Crystelle Waggoner of Decatur, Tex.

Somehow the instructions were never carried out.

The horse went through a series of owners after that. Then late in the same year, Ernest C. Rogers Jr., answered an ad in a Baltimore newspaper.

For him, she was just what he wanted. She made an excellent hunter and family pet.

"I've never been to a race track in my life," Rogers said. "I wouldn't know a start from a finish. But for a hunter and a pet —they don't come any better."

Trouble developed when Rogers decided to try and obtain papers on the mare. He wrote to Miss Waggoner. Legal proceedings were immediately begun, and now Rogers has lost the first round of a court battle for the mare's possession.

Both Rogers and his father have said Miss Waggoner told them she wanted the horse only to destroy it, as she had originally ordered.

Rogers and his father, who now has the mare on his 80-acre Carroll County farm, both insist they will take the case as "high as we have to" before relinquishing ownership.

They have 30 days in which to appeal.

Discoverer Rocket Fails In Orbit Bid

Then two sedans drove into the restricted launch area. Five men got out and two of them moved in to make a daring but crucial adjustment.

Only the previous day an Atlas missile had blown up on its pad here, and inside the Discoverer's lower stage—on which the men were working—were 47,000 gallons of kerosene and 7,000 gallons of highly volatile liquid oxygen.

But everything seemed to go well and the repair crew moved out. Discoverer XXIV blasted off into what looked like a perfect shot.

Crucible Mill Blaze Causes No Damage

No damage resulted from a minor fire Thursday night in the 12-18-inch bar mill at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., a spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the bar went underneath the table, igniting grease and oil. Company firemen had the blaze under control when borough firemen arrived, he added.

Steelman Honored

PITTSBURGH — Peter Payson, assistant director of research with the Crucible Steel Co., will receive an honorary doctor of engineering degree from Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N. J. Saturday. From 1941 until 1955, he served as adjutant professor of metallurgy at Stevens' Graduate School.

Citrus growers in Imperial Valley, Calif., estimate it takes about 1,250 glasses of irrigation water to produce one glass of orange juice.

Corak Drops Todd As Senator Objects

State Sen. John Carl Miller told an Aliquippa group Thursday night he would not approve the appointment of Dr. Thomas Todd of Aliquippa for the post of workmen's compensation referee in Beaver, Washington and Greene counties.

County Commissioner Eli G. Corak, county Democratic chairman, announced yesterday he would recommend Dr. Todd as his successor in the $7,500-a-year post.

Addressing the Aliquippa Citizens Committee, Sen. Miller explained, "Dr. Todd has a profession and a state job and has been well taken care of by the Democrats."

Today, Corak said he was withdrawing the name of Dr. Todd, "regretably" at the insistence of the Aliquippa chiropractor.

Dr. Todd said he "could never become a point of controversy within the party."

Corak said he has no one else in mind for the post.

To Offer New Course

Arrest Of 5 Riders Soars Total To 98

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Five more "Freedom Riders" arrived here by train today and police immediately arrested them.

Officers ordered the four whites and one Negro girl out of the white waiting room of the Illinois Central station. When they refused, police arrested them on charges of breach of peace.

Today's arrests pushed the total to 98 riders abruptly halted in their challenges of segregation policies of the capital city's transportation terminals.

The City Court sentenced 21 Thursday to two months in jail and $200 fines after their arrival by air, train and bus. All were charged with breach of peace. The group included 9 whites and 12 Negroes.

The 21 boosted the total convicted—all under the same charge—to 93. Of the total, 19 were released on bond and 2 paid their fines.

Two who posted bond after conviction Thursday were Mark Lane 33, of New York City, a white member of the State Legislature; and Percy Sutton, 40, Negro president of the New York City branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Man Fights Courtroom Battle To Save Filly

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — A little five-year-old mare, once marked for destruction because of a leg injury, may face the same fate again very shortly.

Decision Nine is her name, but despite her famous heritage—she was by Ponder, one of a line of five consecutive Kentucky Derby winners—the little filly failed to make the grade. Then in May 1959 at Pimlico, she suffered a leg injury and was ordered destroyed by her owner, Miss Crystelle Waggoner of Decatur, Tex.

Somehow the instructions were never carried out.

The horse went through a series of owners after that. Then late in the same year, Ernest C. Rogers Jr., answered an ad in a Baltimore newspaper.

The 26-year-old Baltimore County man fell in love with the horse at first sight, and purchased her for $250.

For him, she was just what he wanted. She made an excellent hunter and family pet.

"I've never been to a race track in my life," Rogers said. "I wouldn't know a start from a finish. But for a hunter and a pet —they don't come any better."

Trouble developed when Rogers decided to try and obtain papers on the mare. He wrote to Miss Waggoner. Legal proceedings were immediately begun, and now Rogers has lost the first round of a court battle for the mare's possession.

Both Rogers and his father have said Miss Waggoner told them she wanted the horse only to destroy it, as she had originally ordered.

Rogers and his father, who now has the mare on his 80-acre Carroll County farm, both insist they will take the case as "high as we have to" before relinquishing ownership.

They have 30 days in which to appeal.

Discoverer Rocket Fails In Orbit Bid

Then two sedans drove into the restricted launch area. Five men got out and two of them moved in to make a daring but crucial adjustment.

Only the previous day an Atlas missile had blown up on its pad here, and inside the Discoverer's lower stage—on which the men were working—were 47,000 gallons of kerosene and 7,000 gallons of highly volatile liquid oxygen.

But everything seemed to go well and the repair crew moved out. Discoverer XXIV blasted off into what looked like a perfect shot.

Crucible Mill Blaze Causes No Damage

No damage resulted from a minor fire Thursday night in the 12-18-inch bar mill at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., a spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the bar went underneath the table, igniting grease and oil. Company firemen had the blaze under control when borough firemen arrived, he added.

Steelman Honored

PITTSBURGH — Peter Payson, assistant director of research with the Crucible Steel Co., will receive an honorary doctor of engineering degree from Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N. J. Corak Drops Todd As Senator Objects

State Sen. John Carl Miller told an Aliquippa group Thursday night he would not approve the appointment of Dr. Thomas Todd of Aliquippa for the post of workmen's compensation referee in Beaver, Washington and Greene counties.

County Commissioner Eli G. Corak, county Democratic chairman, announced yesterday he would recommend Dr. Todd as his successor in the $7,500-a-year post.

Addressing the Aliquippa Citizens Committee, Sen. Miller explained, "Dr. Todd has a profession and a state job and has been well taken care of by the Democrats."

Today, Corak said he was withdrawing the name of Dr. Todd, "regretably" at the insistence of the Aliquippa chiropractor.

Dr. Todd said he "could never become a point of controversy within the party."

Corak said he has no one else in mind for the post.

Wrangle Looms In Congress For Summer 'Rest'

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Speaker Sam Rayburn weeks ago snorted "nonsense" to the suggestion that Congress take a summer vacation the idea appeared doomed.

It still may be, but its adherents die hard.

One of them, Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., has two children and the belief "that the warmth and support of a family are vital to the efficiency of many congressmen."

Armed with this observation and also the statistics that senators have about 140 school-age children and House members more than 600, he appeared Thursday before the House Rules Committee.

His aim: Action on his resolution requiring Congress to recess every year, or at least every other year, from the end of June until early October.

He got no immediate sympathy from the committee, even after saying wives of 175 senators and representatives have signed a petition favoring the summer recess.

Three Small Boys Suffocate In Freezer

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) —Three small boy playmates climbed into a freezer chest while at play and smothered when the lid closed on them late Thursday.

The dead children are Keith Loughry, 6; his brother, Glen, 4, and a next door neighbor, William Anderson, 4. Officials said they had been in the chest an hour.

The freezer was on the rear second floor porch at the Loughry home. It had been there a week, but was not yet in use.

The Loughrys have another son, Thomas, 9. The Andersons have two other children, a daughter, 13 and a son, 7.

Veteran Actor Dies

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to thank all of the friends and neighbors for their many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during my recent bereavement.
R. W. Johnston

WE wish to express our sincere thanks and gratitude to our many friends and neighbors in the loss of my husband and our father, Peter R. Sachs. Our sincere thanks to Dr. Cibula and Dr. Bacon and the nurses at Salem City Hospital. Our special thanks to the priests in Salem, who came when we needed them. Thanks to Rev. Armstrong for his prayers. Also Mr. Martin, funeral director, and staff, for his thoughtfulness and understanding.

Wrangle Looms In Congress For Summer 'Rest'

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Speaker Sam Rayburn weeks ago snorted "nonsense" to the suggestion that Congress take a summer vacation the idea appeared doomed.

It still may be, but its adherents die hard.

One of them, Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., has two children and the belief "that the warmth and support of a family are vital to the efficiency of many congressmen."

Armed with this observation and also the statistics that senators have about 140 school-age children and House members more than 600, he appeared Thursday before the House Rules Committee.

His aim: Action on his resolution requiring Congress to recess every year, or at least every other year, from the end of June until early October.

He got no immediate sympathy from the committee, even after saying wives of 175 senators and representatives have signed a petition favoring the summer recess.

Three Small Boys Suffocate In Freezer

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) —Three small boy playmates climbed into a freezer chest while at play and smothered when the lid closed on them late Thursday.

The dead children are Keith Loughry, 6; his brother, Glen, 4, and a next door neighbor, William Anderson, 4. Officials said they had been in the chest an hour.

The freezer was on the rear second floor porch at the Loughry home. It had been there a week, but was not yet in use.

The Loughrys have another son, Thomas, 9. The Andersons have two other children, a daughter, 13 and a son, 7.

Board Hires 2 For Faculty

Mrs. D. L. Steiner of North Lima and Miss Clorinda Mancuso of Leetonia were hired as elementary teachers at a meeting of the Fairfield - Waterford Board of Education Thursday night at the Fairfield School.

Miss Janet Harding, secretary, was granted a three-year contract, and Mrs. Elverda Baughman, secretary, was awarded a five-year contract.

A voluntary school insurance program, costing $1.50 for each student, was accepted with the Security Mutual Insurance Co. of Chicago.

The board will begin interviewing applicants for the post of basketball coach from which Bing Newton has resigned. Newton has indicated he will continue to teach.

Contracts were awarded for new teachers desks.

Joseph Driscoll, executive head, has announced the retirement of Mrs. Harriet Gaver of Columbiana, who has spent most of her 16-year teaching career at Fairfield.

Driver Fined In Suspended License Case

A 31-year-old man who admitted he continued to drive after his operator's permit and auto license tags had been suspended by the state under the Ohio financial responsibility law was fined $50 and costs today in Municipal Court and warned not to drive his car again until cleared by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

He is William R. Jarrett, 1230 Chaffin St., cited Tuesday on Lisbon St. by Patrolman W. E. McDaniel. Howard Lisk, district inspector for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, advised Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Jarrett's plates and driver's license were ordered suspended April 26 by the BMV as a result of an accident in which his car was involved Aug. 9, 1960.

Jarrett was notified by registered mail to surrender his license and his tags, but failed to comply, Lisk told the court. He said he was sent to interview Jarrett in person on May 29. At that time, it developed that Jarrett had signed an agreement to pay for damage to the other car in installments, Lisk said. But such an arrangement must be approved by the bureau in Columbus before the driving privileges can be restored, Lisk said.

At the time of his arrest, Jarrett was carrying a duplicate driver's license issued Aug. 23, 1960, police said. Judge Chertoff ordered it suspended for 30 days, or until the BMV accepts the financial settlement of the wreck damage.

He lectured Jarrett sternly, pointing out use of the highways is a "privilege" not a "right." He warned Jarrett the violation subjected him to a maximum penalty of a $500 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

Municipal Court records show Jarrett was fined $300 and costs, had his license suspended for six months and was sentenced to 10 days in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated April 12, 1957.

State To Take Bids On School Removal

The State Highway Department is asking for bids June 20 for removal of the Port Homer school and two other buildings along the right-of-way for the improvement of Route 7 between Stratton and Wellsville.

Besides the two-story brick school being abandoned because of construction of a new elementary building at Empire for the Stanton Local School District, there are a two-story frame house with one-story commercial building on one property, and another two-story frame with attached frame garage on an adjoining lot.

The highway department announced earlier Route 7 would be relocated as part of the extensive improvement now under way at various sections.

Harmon Recalls Jungle Warfare

WILBUR J. HARMON
Court Clerk Studies Map of 1917-18 Campaign.

If U. S. Marines land in the Dominican Republic to safeguard American lives in the wake of the Trujillo assassination, it will seem like a repeat of an old familiar story to Municipal Court Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon, who fought guerillas and tramped jungle trails on the same Caribbean island as a young leatherneck 44 years ago.

Harmon served in the jungles and mountains along the border of Haiti and the Dominican Republic — then known as Santo Domingo — with a Marine detachment that was sent to Haiti to restore order and stabilize the government following a revolution.

THE DOMINICAN Republic, scene of the latest revolution, and Haiti occupy the same island, with a common border. Harmon's Marine unit crossed over into Santo Domingo occasionally in pursuit of revolutionary forces, but its main duty was on the Haitian side of the border.

A native called "Charlemagne" was the leader of the bandit-revolutionary force, which outnumbered the Marines 10-to-1, Harmon recalls. Haiti originally was a French settlement, but the population was comprised to a great extent of African slaves who spoke a mixture of French, Spanish and native dialect.

Thanks to two years in the jungles, Harmon still speaks a brand of pidgin French that the Marines used to cadge food or ask directions.

Harmon served in Haiti in 1917-18 with the 63rd Company of the 5th Marines, better known as the First Provisional Brigade. The Marines were led by Gen. Smedley Butler, even then a legendary figure in the corps — the only man at that time in the Marines ever to win the Congressional Medal of Honor twice.

HARMON REMEMBERS the border country of Haiti and Santo Domingo as an area of dense jungle in which all travel was via narrow native trails. A narrow gauge railroad ran along the coastline, but any travel in the back country was by muleback or foot.

Charged with pursuing and subduing the rebels and then helping establish a stable government, the Marine force lived mostly off the land.

Pack mules kept the Marines supplied with ammunition and hardtack biscuits, but for meat they had to rely on foraging or purchasing domestic animals from the natives, paying with a U. S. scrip that could be redeemed for cash.

"THEY WERE peaceful farmers during the day, but they turned into revolutionaries and bandits at night," he recalls. "It was almost impossible to tell the peaceful ones from the fighters.

"If we pushed against them, they would cross the border into Santo Domingo for a few days. Then they would cross the border into Haiti again at a spot perhaps 15 miles away, ready to fight again."

Harmon recalls the back country of Haiti as a land of mountains, jungles, swollen rivers and malaria. The Marines packed machine guns, ammunition and other heavier equipment by burros, but all the travel was on foot on narrow trails. There was always the danger of a sudden ambush from bandits hidden in impenetrable brush.

THE MARINES remained on duty while the government was stabilized. At the same time, they trained a 5,000-member force of native gendarmes to help maintain order after the leathernecks shipped out.

Harmon saw another landmark in the recent news on his way to Haiti. His Marine outfit shipped into Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, on the decks of a collier. "Gitmo," as the servicemen call it, was a U. S. base even in those days, but it had not reached the gigantic proportions to which it grew in recent years.

Recent reports that Marine and Navy units were being mobilized on the East Coast for possible duty in the Dominican Republic brought the flood of memories rushing back.

Elizabeth Davison Graduate With Honors From Geneva

Miss Elizabeth Davison, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alexander K. Davison, 249 Pennsylvania Ave., was graduated cumma laude Tuesday night from Geneva College at Beaver Falls.

A 1957 graduate of East Liverpool High School, she received a bachelor of science degree, majoring in biology. She was the recipient of the J. L. McCartney prize, a medal for best work on some assigned topic in the field of science, and the Alumni Award, presented by the Alumni Association for superiority in scholarship, character, leadership and participation in college activities.

Miss Davison was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." She served as president of the Women's Athletic Association and received a pearl numeral "G" for athletic accomplishments, including four years in varsity basketball.

She was secretary of the Pre-Medical Society and the Biology Department. She made the dean's list for six semesters and was secretary of the Senior Class. She also was a member of the 1961 May Court.

Her affiliations included the Women's Student Association, the Christian Student Fellowship and the Pennsylvania Student Education Association. She served on the staffs of the "Genevan" yearbook, and the "Cabinet" student newspaper.

Miss Davison will enter graduate school this fall at the University of Colorado at Boulder, where she has been awarded a full-tuition scholarship. She will be a teaching assistant in the Biology Department and work toward her master of science degree in zoology.

Chester Lions Seat Officers

Walter L. Jordan, president, and other new officers of the Chester Lions Club were installed at a "Ladies Night" dinner meeting attended by 58 Thursday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church School Hall.

F. R. (Hance) Moffett of Clarksburg, international Lions counselor, was installing officer. He spoke on Lion work throughout the world, emphasizing the wide scope of activities in foreign counties.

He commended the Chester club for its service to the community. Jordan gave the invocation and spoke briefly.

Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Jean Bowlby, organist. Dr. J. M. Brand led the Lions roar, and Anthony Bernardi was in charge of group singing.

C. E. (Clary) Hogue of Pittsburgh sang several selections, and Hobart Bowlby played violin solos. Pantomimes were presented by Miss Nila Jo Bailey of Newell.

Scout Group Expects 200 To Attend Camp

LISBON — Over 200 are expected to attend the Shawnee Boy Scout District "Caveman Camporee" today, Saturday and Sunday at Camp McKinley, according to Kenneth Mugridge, district executive.

Heber Lessig of Lisbon is camporee chief; Bruce Nichols of East Palestine, program director; Norman Spiker of Columbiana, camp fire director; Dale Huff of East Fairfield, events director; Ervin McLaughlin of Salem, director of staff; Leroy Sweitzer of New Waterford, camp layout; Carroll Greene of Salem, Director of judging; Jack Hovis of Salem, chief judge, and Norm Wilhelm of New Waterford, recorder.

Caveman projects will be presented Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning and the public is invited, especially for the campfire meeting about 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

900 Attend Palestine Commencement Rites

EAST PALESTINE — A standing-room crowd of over 900 attended the 75th annual commencement at East Palestine High School Thursday night when 120 seniors — the largest graduating class in local history — received diplomas.

Fred Johnson Jr., valedictorian, and Pearl Shoff, salutatorian, were speakers.

Today, certificates were to be given an eighth grade class of 160, compared to 124 last year. With some 20 students to graduate from Our Lady of Lourdes Parochial School, a Freshman Class of 180 is expected in the fall —the largest ever to attend.

World's Turmoil Reflected In Latest Books At Library

The disturbing state of world affairs at the moment has helped provide fodder for many able reporters, according to Miss [illegible] Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, who mentions a number of the new books.

Warren Miller, who has written many novels about Cuba, in "Ninety Miles from Home" tells us what goes on behind the beards, the oratory and the headlines in Cuba.

The author may be accused of being sympathetic to the Communist regime, but close study indicates that he tries to show both sides.

Those who recall the great influence of "Victory Through Air Power," written by Alexander DeSeversky during one of World War II's most disillusioning periods, will hope that his new publication might have a similar influence on America's fumbling strategy.

In "America, Too Young to Die," this Russian exile reassures us that the fairness of democracy's methods does give us a commanding edge in the struggle for world power. He suggests that all separate divisions in our armed forces should be eliminated.

"Interservice rivalry will never stop as long as they are separate." He warns, "By the end of 1962 Russia will have enough military power to blow us off the face of the earth...unless we exert maximum effort now we may be enslaved by a hostile ideology."

A trio of books which delves into the background of important areas of foreign affairs includes "Sketches from Life from Men I Have Known," by Dean Acheson; "Russia and the West under Lenin and Stalin," by George F. Kennan, and "The Struggle for Democracy In Latin America," by Porter and Alexander.

A reporter for the New York Post, Stan Oppotosky has studied and interviewed the cabinet and key congressional leaders in an intimate study called "The Kennedy Men."

In the area of economics, several books of advice are well worth perusal. In "Buy Now, Pay Later" Hillel Black exposes the installment craze. A feature writer from Associated Press tells "How to Make the Most from Your Income."

Those who enjoyed the wacky novels of Nancy Mitford will welcome "Don't Tell Alfred." Also in the English setting is a first novel by a British playwright, "The Years of Alison."

Novels featuring Americans in varied settings are also to be found on the new book shelf, "The Grand Parade" by Julian Mayfield reveals the dream of the American Negro, and "You'll Walk to Mandalay" stars a nurse during World War II in Burma.

To lift you out of the summer doldrums the library recommends "Harpo Speaks" in which Adolph Marx, better known as "Harpo," presents a complete autobiography.

Ohio Man Is Killed In Indiana Accident

PORTLAND, Ind. (AP) — A Trumbull County, Ohio, man was killed Thursday in an auto wreck on rain-slick U.S. 27, just south of nearby Bryant. Dead is Charles C. Johnson, 78, of Rt. 1, Farmdale.

Mrs. Viola Nuckols, 32, of Bryant, said she drove around a curve and ran into Johnson's car, which slid toward her on its top. Mrs. Nuckols and her daughter, Linda, 9, suffered cuts and bruises.

Tell Of Drowning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Witnesses told police a Columbus man who tried to walk across the Main Street dam here Thursday night actually fell twice into the swirling waters of the Scioto River before drowning. They said Herbert B. McGee, 36, managed to pull himself back onto the low dam after falling the first time. His body was recovered.

Crash Driver Cited

LISBON — Charles Racsek, 28, of 321 S. Beaver St. was cited by police for driving left of center after his car rammed that of Wilfred J. Carlisle, 22, of R. D. 1 Thursday night at W. Lincoln Way and N. Beaver St. Police listed $300 damage to Racsek's car and $475 to the other.

Chester Lions Seat Officers

Walter L. Jordan, president, and other new officers of the Chester Lions Club were installed at a "Ladies Night" dinner meeting attended by 58 Thursday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church School Hall.

F. R. (Hance) Moffett of Clarksburg, international Lions counselor, was installing officer. He spoke on Lion work throughout the world, emphasizing the wide scope of activities in foreign counties.

He commended the Chester club for its service to the community. Jordan gave the invocation and spoke briefly.

Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Jean Bowlby, organist. Dr. J. M. Brand led the Lions roar, and Anthony Bernardi was in charge of group singing.

C. E. (Clary) Hogue of Pittsburgh sang several selections, and Hobart Bowlby played violin solos. Pantomimes were presented by Miss Nila Jo Bailey of Newell.

Scout Group Expects 200 To Attend Camp

LISBON — Over 200 are expected to attend the Shawnee Boy Scout District "Caveman Camporee" today, Saturday and Sunday at Camp McKinley, according to Kenneth Mugridge, district executive.

Heber Lessig of Lisbon is camporee chief; Bruce Nichols of East Palestine, program director; Norman Spiker of Columbiana, camp fire director; Dale Huff of East Fairfield, events director; Ervin McLaughlin of Salem, director of staff; Leroy Sweitzer of New Waterford, camp layout; Carroll Greene of Salem, Director of judging; Jack Hovis of Salem, chief judge, and Norm Wilhelm of New Waterford, recorder.

Caveman projects will be presented Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning and the public is invited, especially for the campfire meeting about 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

900 Attend Palestine Commencement Rites

EAST PALESTINE — A standing-room crowd of over 900 attended the 75th annual commencement at East Palestine High School Thursday night when 120 seniors — the largest graduating class in local history — received diplomas.

Fred Johnson Jr., valedictorian, and Pearl Shoff, salutatorian, were speakers.

Today, certificates were to be given an eighth grade class of 160, compared to 124 last year. With some 20 students to graduate from Our Lady of Lourdes Parochial School, a Freshman Class of 180 is expected in the fall —the largest ever to attend.

World's Turmoil Reflected In Latest Books At Library

The disturbing state of world affairs at the moment has helped provide fodder for many able reporters, according to Miss Helen Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, who mentions a number of the new books.

Warren Miller, who has written many novels about Cuba, in "Ninety Miles from Home" tells us what goes on behind the beards, the oratory and the headlines in Cuba.

The author may be accused of being sympathetic to the Communist regime, but close study indicates that he tries to show both sides.

Those who recall the great influence of "Victory Through Air Power," written by Alexander De-Seversky during one of World War II's most disillusioning periods, will hope that his new publication might have a similar influence on America's fumbling strategy.

In "America, Too Young to Die," this Russian exile reassures us that the fairness of democracy's methods does give us a commanding edge in the struggle for world power. He suggests that all separate divisions in our armed forces should be eliminated.

"Interservice rivalry will never stop as long as they are separate." He warns. "By the end of 1962 Russia will have enough military power to blow us off the face of the earth...unless we exert maximum effort now we may be enslaved by a hostile ideology."

A trio of books which delves into the background of important areas of foreign affairs includes "Sketches from Life from Men I Have Known," by Dean Acheson; "Russia and the West under Lenin and Stalin," by George F. Kennan, and "The Struggle for Democracy In Latin America," by Porter and Alexander.

A reporter for the New York Post, Stan Oppotosky has studied and interviewed the cabinet and key congressional leaders in an intimate study called "The Kennedy Men."

In the area of economics, several books of advice are well worth perusal. In "Buy Now, Pay Later" Hillel Black exposes the installment craze. A feature writer from Associated Press tells "How to Make the Most from Your Income."

Those who enjoyed the wacky novels of Nancy Mitford will welcome "Don't Tell Alfred." Also in the English setting is a first novel by a British playwright, "The Years of Alison."

Novels featuring Americans in varied settings are also to be found on the new book shelf, "The Grand Parade" by Julian Mayfield reveals the dream of the American Negro, and "You'll Walk to Mandalay" stars a nurse during World War II in Burma.

To lift you out of the summer doldrums the library recommends "Harpo Speaks" in which Adolph Marx, better known as "Harpo," presents a complete autobiography.

Ohio Man Is Killed In Indiana Accident

PORTLAND, Ind. (AP) — A Trumbull County, Ohio, man was killed Thursday in an auto wreck on rain-slick U.S. 27, just south of nearby Bryant. Dead is Charles C. Johnson, 78, of Rt. 1, Farmdale.

Mrs. Viola Nuckols, 32, of Bryant, said she drove around a curve and ran into Johnson's car, which slid toward her on its top. Mrs. Nuckols and her daughter, Linda, 9, suffered cuts and bruises.

Tell Of Drowning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Witnesses told police a Columbus man who tried to walk across the Main Street dam here Thursday night actually fell twice into the swirling waters of the Scioto River before drowning. They said Herbert B. McGee, 36, managed to pull himself back onto the low dam after falling the first time. His body was recovered.

Crash Driver Cited

LISBON — Charles Racsek, 28, of 321 S. Beaver St. was cited by police for driving left of center after his car rammed that of Wilfred J. Carlisle, 22, of R. D. 1 Thursday night at W. Lincoln Way and N. Beaver St. Police listed $300 damage to Racsek's car and $475 to the other.
